TERRORIZED THE COURT.

Armed Prisoner Makes His Escape and Defies Capture by a Posse.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Joseph Tichnell of this city, armed to the teeth, is wandering around in the woods of Calhoun county, tonight, defying arrest, while a posse of officers and citizens is in pursuit. The whole country is terrorized.

Tichnell, who has been arrested before for the same offense, was arrested today with Jack Mills, Dr. I. T. White and Mrs. White, charged with selling liquor without license at Brookville, in Calhoun county. They were taken before a justice, and Tichnell asked permission to go and lock up his store. He returned with guns in every pocket and in both hands. He defied the court and held its officers at bay.

Flourishing his weapons, he made the terrorized populace flee. He backed carefully over the narrow bridge across the Kanawha river, and upon reaching the opposite side he fired a few parting shots in the direction of the court and its officers, but failed to hit any of them. A posse was immediately gathered to start in pursuit, but he told them before he left that he would never be taken alive.

NUTMEG FOLK GET GLIMPSES OF PRESIDENT

Tour of New England Begins With Connecticut Cities.

TAKES SHORT RIDE IN THE CAPITAL

In Old Hartford He Speeds in a Well-Handled Automobile.

GREAT EVENING TALK TO MANY THOUSANDS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 22.—President Roosevelt entered upon his New England tour today and New Haven was the first point visited. The yacht Sylph, bearing the president, was sighted off New Haven harbor just before 1 o'clock. Half an hour later the vessel was lying alongside Belle dock, having made the run up New Haven harbor to the accompaniment of universal salutes.

The president acknowledged the salutes from the yacht's quarterdeck. He came ashore at 1:20 p. m. The program provided for nothing but a drive and the progress of it took the distinguished visitor through the slums, the factory quarters and the center of the city.

The workmen lined the windows and crowds thronged the streets hours before the drive began. The city was gaily dressed in flags and bunting. The drive covered less than four miles and occupied less than an hour.

MERIDEN, CONN., Aug. 22.—The special train bearing President Roosevelt and party reached here at 3 o'clock. A salute of guns greeted the president, and all the bells in town were rung, while 20,000 people lined the streets through which the procession escorted the distinguished visitor. The program included singing by 1,000 school children on the lawn in front of the Methodist church and a greeting to the president by the local veterans of the Grand Army in front of city hall.

Cheered All Along Route.

HARTFORD, CONN., Aug. 22.—The president, on his arrival here, was cordially welcomed by a committee of representative citizens. He was taken for a drive around the city, occupying, with Col. Jacob L. Greene, a handsome Victoria automobile, in charge of two expert New York chauffeurs. He was enthusiastically cheered all along the route.

In Pope park, one of the beautiful outlying recreation spots of the city, the president was greeted by 10,000 workingmen, who presented him with a magnificent floral horseshoe inscribed: "Workingmen's Welcome to Our President."

Father Michael Sullivan made a few remarks of welcome, in which he commended the honesty and sincerity of purpose of the president in all his acts. The president responded and his remarks were frequently interrupted by applause.

Five thousand men and women crowded the Coliseum here tonight to hear the address of President Roosevelt. At least two-thirds of the audience were workingmen, and the enthusiasm manifested by them when the president alluded to the rights of the toiler aroused the keenest interest. Again and again during his prefatory remarks, which were based on an incident of the afternoon—the presentation of a floral horseshoe by the workingmen—the president was interrupted by vociferous applause. Such side remarks as the following: "I do not care how honest a man may be, if he is timid he is no good," evoked prolonged laughter. Again, in speaking of the Isthmian canal, he aroused mirth by saying that one of the problems in connection with the great engineering feat would be to procure fifty thousand dollar, patriotic, ambitious men to work for a ten thousand dollar fee.

Republic's New Duties.

The events of the last few years have forced the American republic to take a larger position in the world than ever before, and therefore more than ever before to concern herself with questions of policy which affect her interests beyond her own borders. As a people we now have duties and opportunities in the tropic seas and lands south of us as well as in those of the farthest east. And much depends upon the way in which we meet these duties.

From the days of Monroe, Clay and the younger Adams, we as a people have always looked with interest upon the West Indies and the isthmus connecting the two Americas, feeling that anything happening in those regions must be of concern to our welfare. There is now ampler reason than ever before for this feeling. The outcome of the Spanish war put us in possession of Porto Rico and brought us into peculiarly close touch with Cuba; while the successful negotiation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty at last cleared the way for the construction of the isthmian canal. Porto Rico, it is a pleasure to say, may now serve as an example of the best methods of administering our insular possessions. So excellent have been the effects of our administration and legislation concerning this island that their very excellence has resulted in their being almost forgotten by those at home.

Put Cuba on High Plane.

In Cuba the problem was larger, more complicated and more difficult. Here, again, we kept our promise absolutely. After having de-

LOGIC OF RIFLE CAMPAIGN CARD IN QUAKER CITY

Democrats Discuss Sensational Road to Victory.

APPEAL TO COURT FOR FAIR BALLOT

By CHESTER D. POTTER,
Staff Correspondent.

Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—That the Democratic organization of this city is preparing to conduct a sensational and spectacular campaign was evidenced by the speeches made at the meeting of the committee on organization—a sub-committee of the general auxiliary committee—at the Chestnut street headquarters this afternoon.

Purging of the assessors' lists was the general theme handled, and in the discussion of ways and means, the use of powder and ball at the polls was advocated. But the most radical declaration was made subsequent to adjournment, when several members united in saying that if the common pleas judiciary did not pledge to grant certain demands an appeal would be made to the Democratic justices of the supreme bench, Mestrezat and McCollum.

Realizing its impotency in the coming appeal to the people, which will be passed upon November 4, the Democratic organization will base its claims for recognition upon unbridled charges of fraud in state and municipal administrations and alleged corruption of the ballot. The slogan was sounded today when Magistrate James E. Gorman, a lieutenant of ex-Judge James G. Gordon, declared that the flower of American manhood was being sacrificed for the flag in the Philippines, and he "could see no reason why, if necessary, it should not be offered up in defense of an honest ballot."

Much applause greeted the sentiment. How to make a majority of a minority proved a very vexatious problem for Gov. Pattison's personally-conducted committee. It spoke volumes as to the best

MORGAN NOT READY TO MAKE ANY MOVE TO SETTLE STRIKE

HE MAY YET TAKE HAND

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 22.—J. P. Morgan was asked tonight concerning his attitude toward the anthracite coal strike, and if he intended to undertake its settlement.

He suggested that the matter be left to the people actually involved, and said that the time was not ripe for him to make any statement whatsoever on it. He did not deny that he might take a hand at some time, if the strike remained unsettled, but gave it to be understood that he had not done so yet.

Treasurer Walker of the Delaware & Hudson said tonight of the report that John Mitchell is coming here from Chicago, hoping to end the coal strike through arbitration:

"Mitchell is wasting car fare. We have nothing to arbitrate. We would be glad to meet any committee that has for its purpose the settlement of the strike. He is beaten and he knows it. Any committee of arbitration would be calculated to keep up the hope of the men."

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 22.—The following statement was made this evening by Bishop Potter:

"Mr. Easley, of the Civic Federation, thinks that the coal strike is beyond the point of a settlement by arbitration. Arbitration is a method to devise mutual concessions between two or more parties at odds or differences. There are two sets of circumstances in human life when arbitration can be brought about. First, where there is a misunderstanding between parties, and, second, where one side acts with the assumption that it alone knows all the facts and conditions. I don't know that either side in the present case would recognize a movement for arbitration. It seems to me that the time for that has passed."

SAID HE WAS POISONED.

Ante-Mortem Statement of John Mankatz Not Borne Out by Autopsy.

Deputy Coroner Louis C. Huchel is investigate the death of John Mankatz, who, if a statement made previous to death is to be believed, was probably poisoned. The deputy coroner is looking for a woman who dropped a powder into Mankatz's beer.

Mankatz boarded at No. 29 Thirtieth street and worked at the American Brewing Company's plant in Millvale. He left the brewery after his day's work at 5 p. m. on Saturday and got home about 7 o'clock. Shortly afterward he became violently sick and seemed to suffer much pain. On Wednesday evening he was seized with convulsions and was removed to the West Penn hospital, where he died at 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

Some time before his death he told the attendants at the hospital that on Saturday at about 6 p. m., he met a woman and went into a saloon with her. They had several glasses of beer and when the last one was set before him the woman dropped a white powder into the glass.

The coroner instructed Dr. Walter C. McCandless and Dr. D. F. Johnson of the hospital to hold an autopsy. The doctors found no traces of inflammation as indicating poisoning, and thought, from a description of the symptoms shown by the man when dying, that he had died of tetanus or lockjaw. The stomach was saved for analysis

TALKING OF POST MORTEM

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Paris, Aug. 22.—There is evidently some mystery connected with the fact that the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fair have not been shipped from Paris.

It was originally arranged that the bodies be withdrawn from the Church of the Madeleine at 5 o'clock this afternoon. At that hour two undertakers' vans were waiting at the door of the vault to receive the coffins, when orders came sending them away until 9:30 tonight. At this hour the vans were again on time, but the removal of the bodies was again countermanded and it is said their removal has been postponed to an indefinite date.

Meanwhile lawyers representing the families of Mr. and Mrs. Fair have been closeted at the American consulate here all the evening with Consul General John K. Gowdy, who, it is understood, cabled Washington earlier in the day for instructions in the matter. It is impossible definitely to ascertain the subject of this consultation, but it is reported that the lawyers representing one party desire that a post-mortem examination be held before the bodies leave France. Mr. Gowdy has received no reply to his cabelgram addressed to Washington.

Mr. Ellis, manager of the Hotel Ritz where the Fairs had apartments at the time of their death, has charge of the arrangements. When questioned today he was very reticent. He said the shipment of the bodies had been postponed because definite instructions for forwarding them had not been received from the family of Mr. Fair. He professed to know no other reason why they should not be moved.

THREATENING CROWD LOOKED UGLY FOR LEE

ONE WOMAN MAY DIE OF HER FRIGHT

Martin Lee of Glassport, an ex-pugilist, was last night placed in the lockup at McKeesport with three charges against him—assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery and felonious assault and battery—made by Joseph R. Miller.

A crowd of angry citizens surrounded the lockup at Glassport last evening, and it was thought best to send the man to McKeesport for fear of a demonstration.

Freda White, aged 18 years, of Cumberland, Md., is lying at the point of death from an attack Lee made on her, and Mrs. Anna Miller is also in a serious condition.

Until two weeks ago Lee was a boarder at the Miller hotel, in Glassport. At that time he was asked to leave the house, which he did.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Miller was standing in her back door when she saw Lee enter the yard and go to the chicken coop. She asked him what he wanted there, and he came to the house, and walked into the kitchen. There he began to talk against Miller in the presence of Freda White, Goldie Evans, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Anna Gallagher, who was there with her baby.

Threw the Women Around.

Finally Freda White, who is a sister of Mrs. Miller, told the man to stop talking, saying she would allow no one to speak of her brother-in-law in that way. Without more ado, Lee knocked the girl down. She struggled to her feet, only to be knocked down again, and this time she lay helpless for some time. Then Mrs. Miller rushed in, struck at Lee with a hatchet, but missed him, and he threw her across the room, under a sink.

Goldie Evans, at this juncture, cried

RECORDER BROWN SAYS HE WORKS 10 SECONDS A DAY

Declares He Would Be a Fool to Resign a Position Paying $10,000 for 52 Minutes Labor.

ANNOUNCES THAT HE WILL NOT SEEK ANOTHER TERM

"I would be a fool to resign when I work only 10 seconds a day."

This was the answer made by Recorder J. O. Brown yesterday when shown an afternoon paper story to the effect that he would resign the recordership. This statement is the first authoritative one from the head of the city government on the amount of time he devotes to governmental affairs each day.

The recorder gets a salary of $10,000 per annum. It does not take a Larkin to figure how easily this money is earned, although when the matter is brought to the attention of the controller he may insist upon the recorder adding an occasional second to his daily stunt.

Approximately, Brown devotes 52 minutes a year to the city. Larkin may suggest that he make it an even hour. In 313 working days the extra 480 seconds could probably be put in without much extra strain, either physically or mentally. Most men would be willing to labor one hour out of the 7,512 each year for $10,000 per annum and then be tempted to work a trifle overtime, without making any extra charges.

Brown's Minutes Are Golden.

Those 52 minutes are high-priced and can rightfully be placed in the golden class. Each one is worth $192 to the recorder. Most men would even be willing to have the "pass fiend" in order to draw a modest stipend of this kind. There have been occasions when the recorder has been accused of slipping around the truth, but this is not one of them. Brown means what he says. He will not resign. It is even remarkable that he declares he will not be a candidate for re-election.

The recorder was found at his office yesterday afternoon, just after he had done his 10 seconds. The strain appears to be telling on him. It would not be surprising to hear that he has again donned the gum shoes and slipped away for a rest. This task of "averting the deluge" is nerve-racking.

Brown was just preparing to step out into the street and exhilarate when a boy arrived with an afternoon paper. In flaming headlines the sheet announced, "J. O. Brown to Resign His Office." Some misguided person who is not familiar with the golden minute game of the recorder had written the story. The paper said that Brown was making this sacrifice to "avert the deluge." The recorder smiled and visions of that $82 he had earned for his 10-second wrestle with public affairs loomed up before him. He was asked if the story was true.

"Not a word of it. I would be a fool to resign when I work only 10 seconds a day. My lot is not a hard one. I can go to Cambridge Springs by way of New York and Soho by way of New Orleans."

"And It Was Not the Hind One."

Then the recorder saw this sentence: "This, after continuous pulling at the public teat for a decade." He laughingly remarked, "It has been longer than that, and it has not been the hind one, either."

The recorder was asked if he intended to get out of politics.

"No, sir, I intend to get in deeper," was the reply.

"Recorder, would you resign any office?"

"No, sir. I will hold on to all that I have, and if it would help the Republican party, I would cheerfully add new burdens."

The recorder was asked about a question of law involved in the deficiency of over $1,300,000 predicted by Controller Larkin. To secure the money needed to meet the expenses of the city, a bond issue may have to be asked for. To submit such a question to the voters of Pittsburgh previous to the fall election would but add to the embarrassments of the machine and make more burdensome the "averting of the deluge." In order to learn whether a bond issue would be necessary, the recorder was asked his opinion on the subject. It is one question he does not care to discuss at this time, and he evaded the query in this way:

"That is a matter for the law department. I never guess on questions of law. Just now that department is out of town. 'Andy' Robertson is in Yellowstone park, where he is bearing the burden of the legal end of the city as well as the liabilities of the Republican party."

Brown's Farewell.

City Chairman J. O. Brown last night issued what may be termed his farewell address. It is directed to the Republican organization of the city of Pittsburgh. It is a final call of the machine men to arms, with some criticism of the Citizens and the announcement that Brown will not be a candidate for re-election as recorder, thrown in. He appeals to the members of the city committee to prepare for the coming "struggle."

In view of the very evident intention of the machine to form an alliance with the Democrats and support Pattison in order to offset the Citizen indorsement of Pennypacker, this statement in the address is received with some merriment:

"I have no other ambition than to see the victory and glory of the Republican party at elections, whether they are national, state, county or municipal. * * * My appeal now is that you prepare for the coming struggle, so at the November election, I may again lead the city Republican party to victory."

The full address of Chairman Brown follows:

"As chairman of your city committee I desire to call your attention to the fact that a campaign of great importance to the Republican organization of the city of Pittsburgh and the county of Allegheny is about to be inaugurated, and I wish to urge upon you a thorough and careful canvass of the Republican voters in your respective districts and sub-districts; the qualification of the voter and the immediate arranging for an active Republican campaign, so that the full and entire vote of the Republican party of the city of Pittsburgh may be polled at the coming November elections.

Regrets There Is Trouble.

"The issues, state, county and city, will be presented to you in all their various phases, and by different party organizations. And I wish to say to you, as your chairman, and with great regret, that there is a division in the party ranks in the city of Pittsburgh. Last November the Republican party claimed to exist in two parts: the Republican organization, of which you are the official and legal representative, and the alleged Republican party, who at the time called and styled themselves Stalwart Republicans, for the one purpose, to wit: the election of the state ticket.

"This coming election you will notice there is no alleged Stalwart Republican party; but there is another diversion from the Republican ranks, who style themselves the 'Citizens Party' of Allegheny county, and they have allied themselves with and joined the Democratic party, for county purposes only, and do not intend to assist the Democratic party in the election of a state Democratic ticket, but have divided between the Democratic party and themselves the county offices for the express purpose of defeating the Republican organization of Allegheny county, and possessing themselves of the county offices, with the avowed declaration and purpose that if that is accomplished they will then be in position to discard their Democratic associations and affiliations, and attempt to become the Republican party of Allegheny county by some political accident that may happen in the future.

"The men who are at the head of the so-called 'Citizens' movement have but one object in view—to gain control of the Republican party. There would be no 'Citizens' movement were the Republican party to be handed over bodily to two or three men who are leading that movement. The Citizens party ceases to exist the moment those who are leading it shall have accomplished their purpose, which is to destroy the Republican party and then appropriate it as personal property for personal power.

"The Citizens' movement is but a campaign against the Republican party, conceived in a spirit of personal revenge and financed by former Republicans today false to their party trust and to the party that has highly favored them.

"Avert the Deluge."

"Let no true Republican be misled in this campaign. He need but know the facts as they exist to point him the way to right and justice as against the band of men who have clothed their lust for political power with an insincere cry for political reform. One of their avowed purposes is to interject into the coming campaign the election of a recorder for the city of Pittsburgh in 1903.

"And I wish to make at this time, the public declaration that I believe that party fealty and loyalty is greater in its character and purpose than the achievement of private ambitions. Personally there is no honor or public recognition that could be offered me that would for a moment stand in the way of my party's success and my party's triumph. And, believing that the coming recordership should be an open door for the highest and best qualified citizens of the Republican party, who can be induced to take the place and discharge the enormous responsibility that belongs to the office by virtue of the present charter, I desire to make this personal announcement at this time, that I am not, nor will not, under any considerations that now are, or hereafter can be formed, be a candidate for the office of city recorder for the city of Pittsburgh.

"I have no other ambition than to see the continued prosperity of our city; the victory and glory of the Republican party at elections, whether they are national, state, county or municipal.

"The Republican state and county candidates are worthy of the earnest support of the Republican party of the city of Pittsburgh, and my appeal now is that you prepare for the coming struggle so that at the November elections I may again lead the city Republican party to victory, and that our achievements may be as glorious in the city of Pittsburgh as they were in the November elections of 1901."

CHILDREN CAUGHT BY TIDE

LONDON, Aug. 22.—A harrowing holiday tragedy occurred today at Filey, a watering place near Scarborough. Five children who were playing on the sands were cut off by the inflowing tide and drowned before their mothers, who were sitting on the beach, had noticed the danger which threatened them.

The shore at the scene of the tragedy was deserted and no boats were available. The mothers of the children and others made heroic attempts at a rescue. The oldest child made a futile attempt to save the youngest one by holding it up in his arms. Those who attempted to rescue the children had narrow escapes from drowning.

MONT PELEE ACTIVE.

For Twenty Minutes Total Darkness Reigned Within Five Miles of Volcano—Ships Endangered.

CASTRIES, ISLAND OF ST. LUCIA, Aug. 22.—Officers of the steamer Dahome, which arrived here today report a severe eruption of Mont Pelee, on the Island of Martinique, at noon of yesterday.

The eruption was followed by total darkness five miles away from the volcano. It was 20 minutes before it again became light.

The Dahome was obliged to change her course to escape the volcanic dust which fell heavily upon her deck.

PRISONER CHANGED IDENTITY IN THE TWINKLING OF AN EYE.

Bernard Farrell, a coal and iron policeman attached to the Homestead steel mills, was yesterday locked up by his own prisoner, and had to break down a door to get out. Farrell arrested a foreigner giving his name as George Burly, on a petty charge, and at a hearing before Burgess John Molamphy he was fined $1. On the plea that all his money was at his home, near Wilmerding, he induced Farrell to accompany him there and get the amount of the fine and costs, offering to pay the officer's car fare.

They arrived at a shanty in a hollow just north of Wilmerding, and both entered. The prisoner quickly shut the door and slipped out, barring it on the outside. The officer, finding himself in darkness, lit a match and discovered that the tables were turned. He had to batter the door down to get out, as there were no windows.

Farrell now gives voice to suspicions that Burly is one of the gang of safe-crackers who have been working in the vicinity, and wants the shanty investigated. He was so glad to get out that he forgot to look it over himself.

THE ALLEGHENY POLICE WERE DEPRIVED OF MUCH-NEEDED GLORY

The somnolent quiet that hangs over the Central station in Allegheny was rudely broken last night about 9:30 by the clang of the burglar alarm from the big vault of the Allegheny Trust Company. Down Federal street rushed Detective Philip McDonough and Special Officer Lee, with revolvers drawn. Peeping in the front windows they were horrified to see two burly men working at the safe. Slowly they slipped through the door, which was not locked, and the two supposed burglars were aroused by a stern summons to throw up their hands.

Two gentlemanly looking fellows arose from their stooping posture and looked into the dark muzzles.

"We are dead men," muttered one.

"I am going to die with my boots on, anyway," said his companion, as he reached for a convenient inkstand.

His fell purpose was discovered by the officers and the shooting almost began then.

By and by the officers separated and one dragged out a pair of handcuffs. As he did so a light broke out on the clerks' faces and they demanded a parley.

Explanation developed the fact that the Allegheny Trust Company had moved across the street and the "burglars" were two clerks of J. Walter Hay & Co., who now occupy the building.

Detectives are now on the trail of the miscreant who set off the burglar alarm.

AIR OF MYSTERY THROWN AROUND REMINGTON CASE

Brother Denies Himself to Callers and Even Refuses to Answer Telephone.

EVADES ALL INQUIRIES

Still Refuses to Admit That He Accepts Suicide Theory, and Will Not Discuss Result of Autopsy. Consults With Attorney.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 22.—Owing to the air of mystery which Edward P. Remington and his attorney, Seth T. McCormick, have thrown around the autopsy held on the body of Robert Remington, it is expected here that some startling developments will crop out in the case within a few days.

Every effort to induce Lawyer McCormick and his client to disclose the nature of the first move that they will make has failed. That Robert Remington was murdered is discredited here, and this fact increases the existing mystery surrounding the affair, and the purpose of the autopsy is only a matter of conjecture. Ever since Edward Remington arrived here on Wednesday night he has instructed every person with whom he had business relations to the strictest secrecy, even the undertaker and his assistant, who conveyed the remains from the railroad station to the private morgue, were told not to allow any person even to touch the casket. As a consequence the body was kept during the night in an apartment securely locked.

Edward Remington kept close to his room at the hotel today, and at noon declined to respond to a telephone call to talk with some person in New York. The hotel clerks were instructed to tell all inquirers that Mr. Remington was out, and they positively refused to allow cards of newspaper men to be taken to his room.

This afternoon Mr. Remington was seen in the corridor.

Asked if he felt satisfied that his brother committed suicide, Mr. Remington said that he did not know anything about it, as he did not witness the shooting.

"Where is the revolver with which your brother is supposed to have killed himself?"

"I don't think I can lay my hand on it now," was the evasive answer.

"Did you bring it to Williamsport?"

"No, I did not," was the emphatic reply of Mr. Remington.

"Did an agent of yours bring it here?"

"That I decline to answer."

"Does the bullet taken from your brother's head fit the pistol?"

"I must refuse to answer your question."

"What was the exact purpose of the autopsy, and what was discovered by the surgeons?"

"I don't know," was the reply.

"By the way," continued Mr. Remington, "I have been so occupied for the past few days that I have not read the papers. What little I have seen, however, has convinced me of numerous misrepresentations. If I continue to feel as I do now, I may take the trouble to rectify some of the untruths, and tell the people the true condition of things."

CARRIAGE STRIKES TREE.

Newport Woman Has Narrow Escape from Death at Munich.

MUNICH, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Mrs. Slater of Newport had a narrow escape on Wednesday evening while returning from the opera. Her horses ran away on approaching a hill and upset the carriage by striking it against a tree. The driver was thrown off, and the occupants of the carriage were dragged about 50 yards, when the kicking horses disentangled themselves from the harness and fell on the slippery road.

Mrs. Slater was found unconscious, but later it was discovered that she was only badly stunned. The other occupants of the carriage escaped without injury.

livered the island from its oppressors, we refused to turn it loose off-hand with the certainty that it would sink into chaos and savagery. For over three years we administered it on a plane higher than it had ever reached before during the four centuries since the Spaniard first landed upon its shores.

We brought moral and physical cleanliness into the government. We stamped out yellow fever—in itself an inestimable service both to the Cuban people and to the people of our own southern states. We established a school system. We made life and property secure, so that industry could again begin to thrive. Then, when we had laid deep and broad the foundations upon which civil liberty and national independence must rest, we turned the island over to the hands of those whom the people had chosen as the founders of the new republic.

It is a republic with which our own great republic must ever be closely knit by the ties of common interests and common aspirations. Cuba must always be peculiarly related to us in international politics. She must in international affairs be to a degree a part of our political system. In return, she must have peculiar relations with us economically. She must be, in a sense, part of our economic system. We expect her to accept a political attitude toward us which we think wisest both for her and us.

Hopes for Reciprocity.

In return, we must be prepared to put her in an economic position as regards our tariff system which will give her some measure of the prosperity which we enjoy; and, therefore, I believe that it is only a matter of time—and, I trust, only a matter of a very short time—before we enter into reciprocal trade relations with Cuba.

The Isthmian canal represents what is probably to be the greatest engineering feat—the greatest feat of the kind—of the twentieth century. Before we start upon the construction of the canal, certain questions of detail and of our relations with the people dwelling the soil, have to be settled. When this has been done the first question will come up of choosing the commission which is to supervise the building of the canal.

Here, again, we have to deal with an enterprise so vast and so far-reaching in its effects that but one thought is permissible—how to get the very best men in the nation, the men of the highest engineering and business and administrative skill, who will consent to undertake the work. If possible, I should like to see these men represent different sections and different political parties. But these questions are secondary.

So much for what has been done in the accident. In the orient the labor was more difficult.

It is rare, indeed, that a great work, a work supremely worth doing, can be done save at the cost not only of labor and toil, but of much puzzling worry during the time of the performance.

Task in the Philippines.

The Spanish war itself was an easy task, but it left us certain other tasks which were much more difficult. One of these tasks was that of dealing with the Philippines. The easy thing to do—the thing which appealed not only to lazy and selfish men, but to very good men, whose thought did not drive them down to the root of things—was to leave the islands. Had we done this, a period of wild chaos would have ensued, and then some stronger power would have stepped in and seized the islands and have taken up the task which we in such a case would have flinched from performing.

Finally there was the course which we adopted—not an easy course, one fraught with danger and difficulty, as is generally the case in this world when some great feat is to be accomplished as an incident to working out national destiny. We made up our minds to stay in the islands—to put down violence, to establish peace and order—and then to introduce a just and wise civil rule, accompanied by a measure of self-government which showed increase as rapidly as the islanders showed themselves fit for it. Well, it was certainly a formidable task, but think of the marvelously successful way in which it has been accomplished.

The first and vitally important feat was the establishment of the supremacy of the American flag, and this had to be done by the effort of those gallant fellow Americans of ours, to whom so great a debt is due—the officers and enlisted men of the United States army, regulars and volunteers alike.

Army Did Its Duty.

It was not a task which it was humanly possible to accomplish in a month or a year; but month by month, year by year, with unwearied and patient resolution, our army in the Philippines did the task which it found ready to hand until the last vestige of organized insurrection was stamped out.

The utmost care has been exercised in choosing the best type of Americans for the high civil positions and the actual work of the administration has been done so far as possible by native Filipino officials serving under these Americans. The success of the effort has been wonderful. Never has this country had a more upright or abler body of public representatives than Gov. Taft, Vice Gov. Wright and their associates and subordinates in the Philippine islands.

It is a very difficult matter practically to apply the principles of an orderly free government to an oriental people struggling upward out of barbarism and subjection. It is a task requiring infinite firmness, patience, tact, broad-mindedness. All these qualities and the countless others necessary have been found in the civil and military officials who have been sent over to minister to the islands.

Each inhabitant of the Philippines is now guaranteed his civil and religious rights, his rights to life, personal liberty and the pursuit of happiness, subject only to not infringing on the rights of others. It is worth noting that already the Philippine people have received a greater share of self-government, that they have more to say as to how they shall be governed, than is the case with any people in the orient which are under European rule.

The possession of the Philippines has helped us, as the securing of the open door in China has helped us. Already the government has taken the necessary steps to provide for the laying of a Pacific cable under conditions which safeguard absolutely the interests of the American public. Our commerce with the east is growing rapidly. Events have abundantly justified, alike from the moral and material standpoint, all that we have done in the far east as a sequel to our war with Spain.

President Enjoys Drives.

Tonight after his address at the Coliseum the president was the guest of Executive Secretary John T. Robinson in Asylum avenue. The president invited Mayor Sullivan to meet him at Mr. Robinson's home. The mayor is an ex-clerk who was elected by laboring men, a fact the president was familiar with, and he expressed a desire to have a personal chat with Mr. Sullivan.

President Roosevelt expressed his satisfaction at the substitution of drives for conventional handshaking. This method of entertainment seems to have given the people the opportunity desired of seeing him. It obviates the crush that has been so objectionable in previous receptions.

that she would run for the police, and Lee, to stop her, threw a hatchet at her, which missed her, and the girl got away. Mrs. Gallagher, gathering up her infant, ran upstairs, and the man walked from the house. In a few minutes the girl came back with Policeman Riffner, who arrested Lee and took him to the lockup.

A doctor was called to attend the injured women, both of whom were found lying on the floor unconscious. The White woman was unconscious for five hours, and it is not yet known how badly she is injured. She raves constantly, when conscious, and Dr. A. W. Colcord says she may die at any time.

An Angry Crowd Gathered.

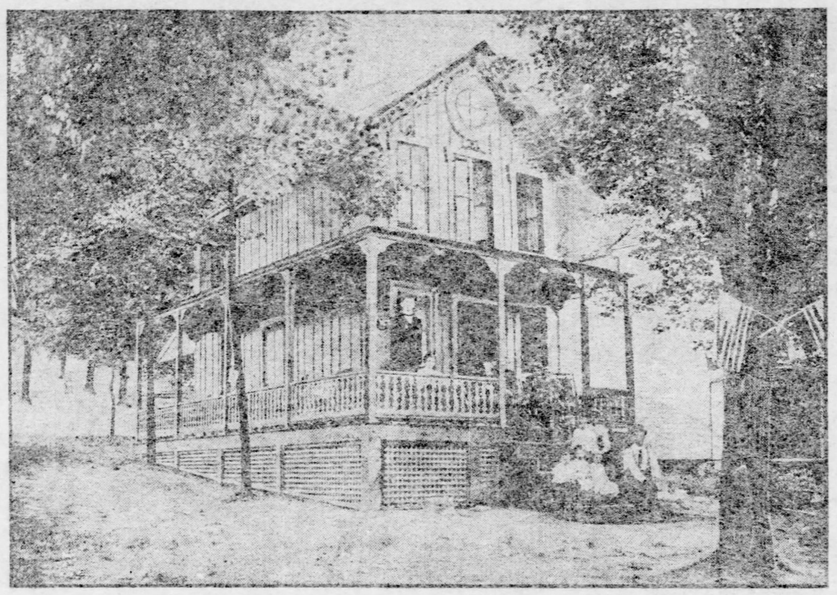
Soon after Lee had been placed in the lockup word spread of what had occurred and an angry crowd surrounded the place, making threats. Deputy W. A. Wilkin, acting burgess, became alarmed at the threatening attitude of the crowd and telephoned to McKeesport for officers to be sent at once to Glassport, to remove the man to a safer place. Two officers went up and going to the jail, remonstrated with the crowd, counseling order, and stating that Lee would get his deserts at the hands of the law. He was finally got out, and placed on a street car for McKeesport.

Lee asked how Freda White was, and seemed much depressed over the word that she might die. He said he would rather die himself than have her die. He said he was only having a little fun with the women, and when they started to remonstrate with him, just pushed them about a little.

Lee has been living in McKeesport for the last two years, being employed at the Pittsburgh steel hoop mill.

Mrs. Miller had her lip split and her face and body badly bruised by her struggles with the man. Freda White came to Glassport two weeks ago to spend her vacation with her sister. She is employed as a bookkeeper in Cumberland.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS HAVE THEIR OWN COTTAGE AT TARENTUM CAMP GROUNDS.



This pretty cottage, which occupies a commanding site on the Tarentum camp meeting grounds, is known as the Epworth League cottage and is controlled by that strong and popular church organization. It has lodging accommodations for 25 women. Male members of the league are provided with lodgings at the camp grounds' hotel when they spend their nights on the grounds.

The cottage was a very lively center yesterday and last night, for yesterday was "Epworth League Day" in the fifty-second session of the Tarentum camp meeting. The day's program opened with an address by the Rev. J. T. Leak, D. D., of Pittsburgh. Miss Sydney V. Hild addressed the Junior League rally at 2:30 o'clock and she was followed at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. W. H. H. Rees of Pittsburgh, who delivered a general Epworth League talk. At 6:30 o'clock Epworth League services were held, under the leadership of the Tarentum league. In the evening services were conducted by the Tarentum Young Men's Christian association. A. T. Hoffsommer, general secretary, Fred Hild was chairman of the devotional committee.

The camp meeting will come to a close tomorrow evening after a most successful 10-days' session, during which the Epworth League cottage has been thronged all the time. Today's services will be conducted by the Rev. John K. Howe of Freedom, at 10:30 a. m., and by the Rev. H. N. Cameron of Allegheny, at 7:30 p. m. Tomorrow there will be a general class meeting at 9 a. m.; preaching by the Rev. Arthur Staples, president of Beaver college, at 10:30 a. m.; preaching by the Rev. Dr. A. B. Riker of Alliance, president of Mt. Union college, at 2:30 p. m.; an Epworth League service, conducted by the Freedom league, at 6:30 p. m., and the closing sermon at 7:30 p. m., by the Rev. William Lynch, D. D., of Creighton.

WHITE SQUADRON KEEPS CLEAR OF BLUE WARSHIPS

Pillsbury's Whereabouts Are Still a Matter of Conjecture.

FOG HIDES THE VESSELS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Rockport, Mass., Aug. 22.—The contrast in the conditions prevailing off shore this morning and those of yesterday were most marked and those participating in or watching the war maneuvers of the navy early today found things favorable to the squadron under Commander John E. Pillsbury.

This morning a fog so thick that the water of the harbor could not be seen from naval headquarters, shrouded Cape Ann and the adjacent ocean. It was not long after sunrise that the fog set in. It was a dense cloud and at first impenetrable to the eye beyond a distance of 10 or 12 feet.

The cruiser Brooklyn skirted the end of Cape Cod early in the forenoon and went across to Plymouth. By 11 o'clock the fog had lifted and the battleships were seen in their usual positions. All the signal and lookout stations reported during the forenoon, showing that the message system was intact. All the scout boats were heard from before 11 o'clock, either at the station here or on board the Kearsarge.

It is learned that the rules of the maneuvers in which the vessels are engaged permit the destruction of ships of the opposing squadron and it appears that the fear that Pillsbury may dash in and "disable" one of his vessels is one reason why the defending fleet is kept so compact by Admiral Higginson.

In the afternoon the weather conditions again were changeable. At 3 o'clock the fog deserted Rockport and passed far out beyond the battleships, hanging away in the east more in the form of smoke.

From Straits Mouth Point the trio of warships could be discerned very plainly. Then suddenly it seemed as if the bank of fog were engaged in a race to the coast line again. The battleships could now no longer signal each other and the stations on Pigeon Hill and Straits Mouth were rendered for the time being out of action.

An hour later the fog again lifted and piled upon the horison, finally being broken up by a strong east wind. Then black clouds covered the sky, followed by thunder. The watchers on shore believed that the long waited for battle had actually started.

The storm continued till dark, when again the weather changed and the stars shone. Lightning, however, continued, serving now and then to illuminate the harbor of Rockport, so that one could see very plainly the two stake boats which had anchored inside the breakwater, to serve on the morrow during the official trial of the new battleship Maine. Dispatches from stations along the coast were not as frequent as they had been previously. There were, however, several very important telegrams which were immediately dispatched on the government launches to Admiral Higginson.

ON BOARD THE FLAGSHIP KEARSARGE, OFF ROCKPORT, MASS., Aug. 22.—Together with the Massachusetts and Alabama, the flagship Kearsarge is anchored tonight in the same position it has occupied during the past 24 hours. The flagship holds a position about one mile off Straitsmouth light, and the other two ships are close by. Steam was kept up in the boilers during the entire day, and everything was in readiness to get under way at a moment's notice.

The thick fog was a cause for some worriment, and if the enemy is sure of his position and the fog does not lift tonight it will appear an excellent opportunity for a rush to port.

About 4 o'clock this afternoon the torpedo boats, Biddle and Bagley, came in from the southward and anchored up ahead of the flagship. Conjectures as to the whereabouts of the white squadron are as many aboard ship as on land.

BOUND OVER GOAT TO KEEP PEACE ONE YEAR

Alderman C. F. Oyer yesterday established a precedent by binding over a goat to keep the peace. The goat, as it probably is best known to Robert Hastings, is known among the neighbors as "Nannie." She appeared before Alderman Oyer yesterday and for about half an hour was the subject of much earnest thought by the alderman, Attorney Charles F. McKenna, Robert Hastings and Mrs. Bridget O'Neil. Nannie is like every other goat, and has the unsatisfied appetite of her kind. This occasioned trouble for her owner, Martin Kaney. It seems that Nannie and a sister goat wandered into Hastings' lot and ate up some of his property. Hastings killed Nannie's companion. For this he was sued before Alderman Oyer by the Western Pennsylvania Humane society and fined $10. Hastings then sued Kaney for damages alleged to have been done by the goats. Kaney was sick yesterday and sent his daughter, Mrs. O'Neil, to the hearing to represent him. Mrs. O'Neil offered to pay the costs of the suit and the damages, but Hastings objected. Then Alderman Oyer brought his inventive faculties into play and the result was that Attorney McKenna drew up the legal paper, which was signed by both parties to the suit, Mrs. O'Neil giving $20 security for the good behavior of Nannie for one year.

method of purging the lists and then decided that after this was done, fraud would not be impossible, as any man who was vouched for could vote. A resolution to man the polls was adopted, also one to petition two common pleas judges to sit on election day and open ballot boxes without the formality of a contest in cases where a presumption of fraud was established.

It was the last resolution, which was quite generally discussed after the committee adjourned, that developed the intention to make a partisan appeal to the judiciary. Without hesitancy or equivocation, members of the committee—and it is mainly composed of lawyers—said if the common pleas judges did not promise publicly in advance of election that they would sit on election day and open boxes without the formality of a contest, an appeal to this end would be made to the Democratic justices on the supreme bench.

The threat has created a sensation. It is said that, while there is a precedent for almost every proposition in law, there is none which covers the bluff made today by the Democratic committee.

Senator Penrose and Judge Pennypacker will leave in the morning for Allentown, where both will address the Republican county organization during the afternoon. Senator Penrose will sound several keynotes, and Judge Pennypacker may be expected to make a very interesting address, this being his maiden political effort.

ADMITS THEFT OF $4,500.

Former Secretary of Union League Club, Philadelphia, Arrested in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—Henry Detwiler, formerly secretary of the Union League club of Philadelphia, was arrested here today on a warrant accusing him of embezzling funds of the club. Detwiler came to this city, March 17, and secured employment with a steamship company. He states he is willing to return to Philadelphia for trial.

Detwiler admitted that he took $4,500 of the club's money and knowing that it would soon be discovered, fled. The money, he says, was loaned to friends who failed to repay it at the stipulated time.

WRECK IN A TUNNEL.

One Man Reported Killed and Several Injured Near Claysville.

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Word was received here late tonight of a collision between two freight trains, which met in Tunnel No. 3 on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio, near Claysville.

One fireman was reported killed and under the wreck, and three or four others injured. John Reynolds was brought to the hospital at Washington, in a dangerous condition.

James Bryant, the two-year-old child of James Bryant, colored, of Sixth street, Glassport, died yesterday of scalds. The child was playing about the kitchen on Wednesday afternoon and fell into a bucketful of hot water.

DELICATE WORK BY SURGEONS AT MERCY HOSPITAL

LITTLE ONE DOING WELL

Quick Decision Reached by Uniontown Parents Will Probably Save the Life of Their Child—Unusual Practice Promises Good Results.

An operation which will probably be the means of saving the life of a little child was performed yesterday afternoon at the Mercy hospital by Dr. J. J. Buchanan. The operation was done quickly, as the child only arrived at the hospital from her home in Uniontown, Pa., yesterday morning. Last night she was resting easy and it was said she would recover.

Last Tuesday Hazel Schenk, the 22-months-old daughter of Archibald Schenk of Uniontown, was seen playing with a hairpin at her home. Some time later the pin disappeared and the child was unable to explain where it had gone. Nothing further was thought of the matter until the child began to complain of pains in her stomach.

After home remedies failed to relieve her a physician was called in. Nothing very serious was thought about the child's condition until its mother suddenly remembered that the hairpin with which Hazel had been playing had disappeared mysteriously. It was then decided to bring Hazel to Pittsburgh for treatment, as it was feared the pains in her stomach of which she still complained were caused by her swallowing the hairpin.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Schenk arrived in Pittsburgh and at once took Hazel to the Mercy hospital for treatment. The hairpin, measuring two and a half inches, was found securely imbedded in her intestines. Mrs. Schenk remained with her child during the night, and there is every indication that she will recover from the shock of the operation.

The operation is the first of the kind to be performed at the Mercy hospital, and probably in this city, for many months, and the management of the Mercy is considerably elated over the progress the child has already made since the operation was performed.

SCHWAB'S LAND DEAL.

Purchases Large Tract on Long Island, for Country Seat, Then Suddenly Changes His Mind.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Where the beach of Oriental Grove juts into the sound at Great Neck, Long Island, Charles M. Schwab has purchased in the neighborhood of $400,000 worth of land, comprising in all about 160 acres.

The transactions involved in the acquisition of the property had their inception more than a year ago, but so quietly were they conducted that no inkling of them reached publicity.

Mr. Schwab's intention was to merge the various parcels into one magnificent country estate, but now, after spending more than $100,000 in its improvement, he has abandoned this idea, and without occupying his property at all has leased it for a term of years.

Site for Odd Fellows' Home.

FAIRMONT, W. VA., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—The committee appointed at the meeting of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows held here to select a location for a home for the aged and indigent members, decided late this evening on Fairmont as the place. Ten acres of ground, gas for five years and other inducements was offered by Fairmont. The buildings will cost about $60,000.

GREAT OVATION GIVEN GOV. TAFT UPON ARRIVAL

Twenty Thousand Filipinos Came from Provinces to Manila to Greet Him.

CHAFFEE ALSO COMES IN

Believes He Will Yet Be Able to Settle Trouble in Mindanao Without Further Bloodshed—Pershing to See Bacolod Chiefs.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Manila, Aug. 22.—Civil Gov. Taft reached here this morning at daylight on board the United States gunboat Gen. Alava, from Singapore, Straits Settlement. He was welcomed with an enthusiastic popular demonstration.

Responding to an address of welcome, Gov. Taft outlined the progress and the result of his negotiations at Rome in the matter of the Philippine friars and said that all church questions were progressing toward a satisfactory settlement.

The governor said the action taken by congress concerning the Philippine islands showed that the American people honestly desired to help the Filipinos. The Americans were determined the islands should not be exploited by Americans at the expense of the Filipinos.

Gov. Taft predicted that eventually the archipelago would have practically free trade, and he congratulated the Filipino people upon the restoration of peace.

Advised to Till Soil.

He advised the Filipinos to till the soil and restore their country rather than waste time in useless political agitation. He promised personally to labor for the natives and asked for their confidence and support.

Gov. Taft was given an ovation on the streets of the city during his progress to the palace, and he received another ovation at his reception.

The day had been made a holiday and the city was decorated. Eight large arches had been erected in the streets. Twenty thousand natives from adjoining provinces participated in the demonstrations in honor of the governor's arrival. There was a parade of vessels in the bay and 30 decorated craft carrying members of the civil commission, military officers and the reception committee met the General Alava down the bay and escorted Gov. Taft to the entrance of the Pasig river. The governor was escorted by a large procession to the palace in the walled city.

Chaffee Also Arrives.

Gen. Chaffee also returned to Manila yesterday from his tour of the southern islands. He has not taken decisive action against the Moros of the island of Mindanao. He regards the situation there as uncertain, but not critical.

Gen. Chaffo still hopes that moral suasion may avert a conflict between Moros and Americans and has directed Capt. John J. Pershing of the Fifteenth infantry, commander of the American column at Lake Lanao, Mindanao, to open communication with the sultan of Bacolod and ascertain the reason for the repeated attacks by Moros upon the American soldiers, when the latter were not on the offensive. He will await a reply from the sultan before taking further steps in the matter.

At Ibgan Gen. Chaffee conferred with a number of the Moro chiefs, including some from the Lake Lanao district. The conference was quite friendly, and the leading chief agreed to visit Capt. Pershing.

POWER OUT OF JAIL.

Judge Lacombe Takes Action Before Hearing from Attorneys on Either Side of Case.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Peter Power was released from Ludlow street jail this afternoon. Purged of contempt of court, he has regained his liberty under an order from Judge Lacombe, conveyed informally by letter to United States Marshal Henkel. He immediately spoke of a sledgehammer for some others.

Mr. Lamb has forwarded papers moving for his client's release by special messenger to Judge Lacombe, at Athens, N. Y. Mr. Guthrie, hearing of this, had telegraphed the judge that he should like to be heard upon any motion for Power's release.

Before having received either Mr. Lamb's motion or Mr. Guthrie's telegram of today the judge had taken the course which seemed to him right.

WHERE SHALL I BUY A PIANO?

Where You Can Get the Best for the Least Money, That's the Place to Buy.

AMBUHL BROS., 622 Penn Ave.

The above question is one that is often asked, as the average piano buyer knows but little of the merits of the various makes of pianos, and what more logical answer could one ask than the one here given, "Where you can get the best for the least money."

Ambuhl Bros., 622 Penn avenue, is a firm that has built up a remarkably fine piano business in a comparatively short space of time. The secret of their success seems to lie in the fact that they waste no time telling customers how large, old, or reliable their firm is, but positively sell the very best makes of pianos in the market on closer margins of profit than any other house in the city.

The three great makes of pianos they sell as their leaders are the Kimball, Chickering Bros. and Hallet & Davis, also other that are lower in price.

Could one ask to get better toned or better known instruments? They are sold by the largest, best and oldest dealers throughout the country.

It is selling such famous makes of pianos as these at the prices they do, that has brought Ambuhl Bros. the volume of trade they have.

They gladly refer to any bank in the country as to reliability.

Second-hand pianos, of many good old makes are offered here very cheap at present. Kimball, Kranich & Bach, Chickering, Weber and Dunham.

MUCH MYSTERY SURROUNDS THE CUTTING OF HANEY CHILDREN.

Father, Who It Is Alleged Did Cutting, Is Missing and Mother Appears to Be Trying to Shield Him—Her Story Not Substantiated.

Much mystery surrounds the injury of the 7 and 9-year-old step-children of Michael Haney, the railroader living at Fifty-fifth and Butler streets, who it is alleged stabbed the children during a fit of anger late Thursday night, while the children were asleep in bed. Haney, who escaped after the injury to the children was discovered, has not yet been located by the police.

The little girl, Mary, is in a critical condition from a wound in the abdomen, and owing to her frail condition the physician says the wound will probably prove fatal. The children's wounds were made by a knife and it is alleged their stepfather did the cutting.

Mrs. Haney, from her actions last night, seemed to be trying to shield her husband of his crime. She said the children were in bed, sleeping, when her husband, who is employed as a railroad hand at the Lucy furnaces, at Fifty-eighth street, came home and began quarreling with her.

She says he hurled a large glass lamp at her and that it struck the wall over the bed, scattering pieces of glass over the two children. The glass Mrs. Haney claims cut her children. The room, wall and bed covering show no evidence of oil or glass marks or stains, and the children's wounds are of such a nature that they could not have been made by the glass in the manner Mrs. Haney says they were.

Dr. E. W. Kirkpatrick, who is attending the children, said that when he was first called to the Haney house it was for the purpose of dressing the wounds in the leg and thigh of the little boy. Shortly after he returned to his office he was again called to the Haney home and then discovered that the little girl had fainted from her wound, through which her intestines were protruding. Dr. Kirkpatrick says the children's wounds are clear cut and were made with a knife.

T. M'ALEESE NNOUNCES HIS NEW CRUSADE

Make Use of Authority iven to Him by Recorder.

OFFENDERS GO TO COURT

Speakeasy Proprietors and Keepers of Disreputable Resorts Will No Longer Escape With Fine by Police Magistrate.

With a free hand in the conduct of the police bureau, Supt. John McAleese announces that he will at once proceed to extreme measures to rid the city of speakeasies, disreputable resorts of all kinds and the thieves and gamblers who have for many months made this city their headquarters.

Recorder Brown has announced that in the future Supt. McAleese will have sole control of the police, and that no political considerations will be allowed to interfere with his administration of affairs there. The protection of the citizens of Pittsburgh and their property, being placed entirely under his charge, with the forbidding of any interference whatever, puts the whole subject up to Supt. McAleese.

Speakeasy proprietors will have to undergo the rigors of a court trial. The word has gone forth that plain clothes men will be expected to collect evidence necessary to convict in the courts, the long practice of mere fining by police magistrates not having been sufficiently effective.

Speakeasies to Be Eliminated.

Supt. McAleese, in speaking of the matter yesterday, said: "We propose to eliminate the speakeasy entirely. There has been some difficulty about this in the past, owing to the fact that we have been so busy in other ways that we have not had time to gather the evidence necessary to take the cases to court. In the future, however, the most rigorous measures will be used to drive them out of business.

"Affairs in this department and the city generally were in a most disorganized state last January. The city was overrun with speakeasies, street-walkers, gamblers and all sorts of disreputable characters. I believe we have done much towards eradicating the evils already, but thus far we have not had the time necessary for a concerted and strenuous movement of the kind now contemplated.

"In the second year after the Brooks law was passed, I remember that there were fully 1,000 speakeasies in the first 15 wards of the city. By a process of heavy and repeated fines at the hands of police magistrates, the proprietors were driven out of business in less than a year. We have been trying this method recently, but whether because their profits are big enough to justify them in standing the fines, or for some other reason, there are many speakeasies still in operation, although many have been closed.

Says Police Force Is in Good Shape.

"We will proceed at once to drive them out entirely. As an institution, they are not only contrary to the law in themselves, but they foster crime and harbor bad characters of every kind. They must, and will, go.

"In my opinion, the police force is now in good shape. Of course there are still some inefficient men, but as a unit it is good. There has been a large amount of weeding out in the last few months. Much of it has been blamed on politics in a manner that is unjust. Against every man who has been dismissed there have been complaints and charges justifying this step.

"Of course there will be further trials before the police board. No one can expect that we can gather a force of as many men as we have, and not find in it those who are not fitted for the duties of a policeman.

"In my opinion, the state of political unrest and the sudden changes in city administration were primarily the cause of the demoralization of the force. The transfers and shifts worked untold harm. As a result the city was made a mecca for all sorts of undesirable citizens, thieves, gamblers, illegal liquor sellers and bad women, and we have had this state of affairs to contend with.

Favors a Few All-Night Saloons.

"I believe that a certain number of all-night saloons are as much of a necessity, as saloons in the daytime. There are certain classes of people whose vocations call them to work at night, and others who must be up and doing at the small hours of the morning. Their wants should have as much consideration as those of the majority.

"By this I do not mean that the all-night saloon should flourish in the way it did last winter. Many of them were at that time the rendezvous of thieves and gamblers, and women were kept in the same building and allowed to loaf around the rooms where drinks were served. This should not be tolerated at all, but an all-night saloon, properly conducted, should, I think, be open on Fifth avenue, another near the market and others near the railroad depots. They would be a great aid in wiping out the speakeasies.

"I hope the police force will not be reduced. Our force is not nearly big enough now. In the East End district especially, the police protection is utterly inadequate.

Recalls the Day of Riots.

"Those of us who were in the city employ in 1877, will remember that on July 1 of that year, the police force was materially reduced, and within a few days, the famous railroad riots broke out, and the police force was utterly unable to make a pretense at handling it, even while other portions of the city were left entirely without protection. Of course this is not likely to happen just now, but there should be sufficient force to cope with any probable emergency, and this is far from being the fact now.

"There is going to be a housecleaning in Pittsburgh, beginning immediately and I hope when we are done it will be the most law abiding city in the country."

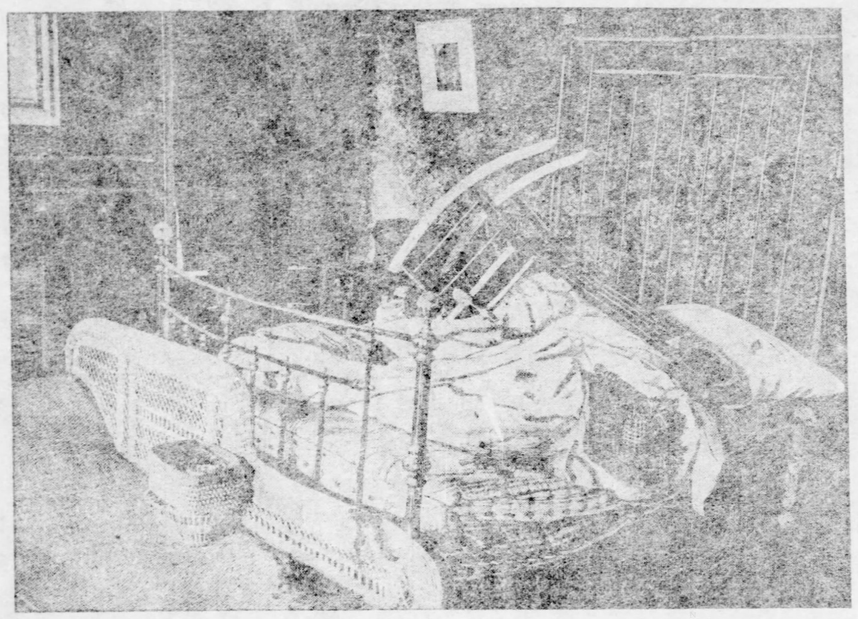
HOME OF ATTORNEY S. S. ROBERTSON WAS WRECKED BY UNKNOWN ENEMY.



WRECK OF BEDROOM IN THE ROBERTSON HOUSE.

Vandals wrecked the interior of the house of Attorney S. S. Robertson, in Woodland avenue, Allegheny, and before leaving wrote with soap on a mirror that the destruction was the work of an enemy. Attorney Robertson, who has been away from home for several days, returned on Thursday, and on going home found the furnishings of his house destroyed. A $40 phonograph and records for the machine were smashed with a hatchet, a $90 medical electric battery was ruined and pieces were cut out of the furniture, besides the ransacking of every room in the house except the library. The wreckers strewed flour over the carpets throughout the house and smeared the walls with red and black ink. Mr. Robertson says that the only way he can explain the matter is that the burglars failed to find money, so wrecked the house.

NEW COAL PLANT WITH 5,000-TON OUTPUT DAILY

United Coal Co Will Make Its Edna Works Greatest in the District.

$500,000 IMPROVEMENTS

New Double Steel Tipple Will Be Built — Patterson Plant to Be Doubled—Many Modern Homes for Miners to Be Erected.

The new United Coal Company, a consolidation of a number of independent coal producers, is letting contracts which will give it the most extensive single coal workings in the Pittsburgh district. At the Edna plant in the Irwin field a new shaft connected with a double tipple is to be put down and with this completed, the plant will be capable of putting out 5,000 tons of gas coal daily.

At the Patterson plant along the second pool of the Monongahela river, a new drift opening is to be made, which will increase the output of this plant from 1,000 to 2,000 tons daily. In all, the improvements that are being started and which will be made will involve expenditure of $500,000.

The cost of improvements at the Edna plant will be about $300,000. A new shaft will be put down 360 feet to the six-foot coal seam, a double steel tipple will be erected and the new opening will be worked with all modern equipment, making the plant one of the most extensive in the district.

The present Edna plant was formerly the property of the Pittsburgh and Baltimore Coal Company and is now producing 1,800 tons daily. It is reached by an extension of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, in connection with this a farm of 125 acres has been purchased and on this tract will be erected the power plant and all accessories for a modern coal plant. The company is now having completed at Edna station 50 miners' houses with unusual comforts. The dwellings will all have large porches and will be slate-roofed. In connection with the new developments work will be started at once on the erection of an additional group of 25 houses with more to follow. At this point the company now owns 600 acres of surface ground, thereby becoming an extensive agriculturalist as well as a coal producer.

In connection with the new mine that will be opened at Patterson 20 new miners' houses are being erected. Contracts for the power plant and the other improvements for the second drift opening there are now being placed. This will provide for a second mining plant entirely distinct from the one now operating to a capacity of 1,000 tons a day. At all other plants of the company improvements and extensions are being made. The Patterson plant has both river and railroad outlets, the latter on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie.

The United Coal Company is a consolidation of the Ella Coal Company, operating on the Belle Vernon branch of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and having both river and rail facilities for shipping; the Pittsburgh and Baltimore Coal Company; Cook & Sons, operating the Rich Hill mine on the Panhandle, and the United Coal Mining Company, operating on the Belle Vernon branch of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad and having a river outlet.

H. O. HORNBERGER TO BE POSTMASTER

Harry O. Hornberger, who is to be the postmaster at Hazelwood at the new sub-station of the Pittsburgh postoffice, commencing with October 1, was born in Pittsburgh, in 1860, and has always been identified with Pittsburgh business interests. About 15 years ago, after a few years' exerience in the drug business, he entered the real estate and insurance business at Hazelwood, and it has grown to great proportions through his zeal and energy. About one year ago he was elected president of the Hazelwood bank, which office he continues to hold.

Mr. Hornberger is out of the city at present, being with his family, who are at Harbor Creek, Erie county, for the summer, but he is excted to return about the first of the month. E. A. Hornberger, his brother and partner in the real estate business at No. 4737 Second avenue, Hazelwood, said yesterday, that it was his brother's intention to build an addition to their present office and give the citizens a commodious, comfortable and convenient postoffice. The work would be commenced on September 1.

BOY KILLED BY HOSE CART.

Fire in Sixth Street Resulted in One Death—Some Thrilling Rescues.

As the result of a fire in Sixth street shortly after noon yesterday one boy is dead, two women had thrilling escapes from death on the third floor of the building at No. 34 Sixth street, and the entire interior of the saloon and restaurant of Nickel & Osthoff was destroyed. The dead:

GEORGE MILES, living at No. 430 Liberty avenue, died at 2 o'clock at the Homeopathic hospital from injuries received by being run over by a hose cart.

The injured:

MRS. ERNEST OSTHOFF, wife of one of the proprietors of the establishment, overcome by smoke.

MRS. CARRIE HEEP, a domestic, also overcome by smoke.

The origin of the fire is unknown or the time when it broke out. Shortly after noon Mr. Osthoff discovered it. An alarm was turned in from box 25 and all the downtown companies responded. Lieut. T. O. Philips of chemical company No. 1 learned there were two women on the third floor and hastily securing a ladder broke the window and entered the room. After carrying Mrs. Osthoff to the ground he returned and carried Mrs. Heep out of the burning building. The building is owned by the Rueckeisen estate and was only slightly damaged. Mr. Osthoff estimated his loss at over $5,000.

Young Miles when struck by the hose cart had nearly all his ribs broken and was taken to the Homeopathic hospital. He was a son of Mrs. Cora Meyers.

AUTO HITS IRON RAIL.

Sir Thomas Lipton Shaken Up Near London—Sultan of Morocco in Similar Accident.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Sir Thomas Lipton was in an automobile accident while coming to town today from his country house. His 12-horse-power car, which he was driving himself, skidded on the street car rails at Woodgreen and crashed violently into the iron railing bordering the road.

The car was wrecked and the railing was smashed for a considerable distance, but Sir Thomas escaped with a shock and a few bruises.

A dispatch from Tangier announces that the sultan of Morocco had a dangerous accident while automobiling near Fez yesterday. The driver lost control of the car, which dashed into a stone wall. The sultan escaped with a shaking and a fright.

C. Jarrott, the automobilist, today at Welbeck did a kilometer (about 1,093 yards) with a flying start in 28 1-5 seconds and beat the record—29 2-5 seconds—recently made by W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., in France.

Brakeman Loses a Leg.

Charles McCune of Wheeler street, Brushton, a brakeman on the Pittsburgh & Western railroad, had his right leg amputated at the knee last night at the Allegheny General hospital. He was thrown from his train at the Sandy creek road, and the train ran over him.

CUSTOM INCOME OF GOVERNMENT STILL GROWING

Treasury Officials Unable to Explain Wonderful Plentitude of Year's Receipts.

CHARGED TO PROSPERITY

People Have Money and Are Spending It, Says Acting Secretary Spalding—Large Deposits in 500 National Banks of Country.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
602 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 22.

The unexampled increase in the customs receipts continues, greatly to the surprise of Acting Secretary Spalding of the treasury department, who admitted today that he could not explain it. For the first seven weeks of the last fiscal year the receipts were $33,000,000, but this year that has been exceeded by over $7,000,000, and the year only just commenced. The officials admitted that this showing indicates all that has been said about the wonderful prosperity in the country.

"The people have more money, and they are spending it," said Gen. Spalding.

Although the expenditures so far this year have exceeded the receipts by nearly $10,000,000, the outlook now is favorable that by the end of the fiscal year all this will have been regained and in addition to the accumulating surplus, the treasury officials believe that the millions authorized for the Panama canal and the purchase of the Danish islands may not be withdrawn from the treasury this fiscal year, thus presenting a still further comfortable balance.

Gen. Spalding also called attention to the fact that this government is now the greatest money lender, as it has on deposit in the various banks throughout the country $128,000,000 which is loaned to the business interests of the country at a nominal rate. It is money which the government has collected in the way of taxes, but having no immediate need for is charged by act of congress to leave in the hands of the people for use. As long as the government has a surplus and can leave funds in the banks it will do so.

During the last five years there has been a wonderful increase in the amount of government money in national bank depositories. In 1897 only 65 banks were designated as such depositories and the amount of money placed with them was only $16,000,000. Now there are 500 bank depositories, and they have an aggregate of $128,000,000 of government money in their possession. These depositories are to be found in every state and territory except Alaska. There is great rivalry among banks throughout the country for the privilege of handling government funds. Political influence of all sorts is brought to bear to secure the much-coveted "designation."

FLINT GLASS MEN OFFERED SHARP WAGE ADVANCES

About 7,500 Skilled Workers Are Affected and 30,000 Others Concerned.

UNION'S GREAT VICTORY

Advances Offered Range from Five to Ten Per Cent and Workers Maintain Move-Limit—Get Practically All Demands.

A two days' conference of manufacturers and workers intercsted in the pressed ware department of the flint glass trade closed yesterday with a proposition for a horizontal advance of 5 per cent to the men. With this there are before the workers propositions for new wage scales carrying advances all the way from 5 to 10 per cent. Never before in the history of the trade has such an advantageous settlement been made for the workers.

There remains only for committee settlement the wage in the stopper department. A conference to adjust this will be held at Philadelphia on Thursday of next week. With this, the wages of 7,500 skilled workers of the American Flint Glass Workers' union will have been settled subject to referendum vote in important branches. An aggregate of 37,500 glass factory employes are directly and indirectly concerned.

It only remains for the voters of the several branches of the trade to approve by referendum vote the adjustment of the wage committees and the officials of the American Flint Glass Workers' union. President Charles E. Voltie of the union said last night that he anticipates that the settlements of the committees will be fully satisfactory to the workers.

Factories in Operation.

While the votes of the workers is being taken, nearly all of the glass factories in which the flint glass workers have a foothold are in operation pending final settlement. None of the scales will be signed till after the several branches of workers interested have approved.

The committee settlements this year have been the most successful for the workers in the history of the union. The proposition in the pressed ware department, as disposed of in committee in session at headquarters of the American Association of Flint and Lime Glass Manufacturers in the Stevenson block yesterday calls for an advance of about 5 per cent and affecting directly 2,000 men. The demand of the workers had been for an advance of seven per cent.

In the punch tumbler department, the scale for which was provisionally settled within this week, the workers had asked for an average advance of 10 per cent. The manufacturers offered an advance of 10 per cent in six branches and five in two others. The average advance offered is about 9 per cent. These concessions are exceptional in that they follow the most remarkable offer that the organization ever secured from the chimney manufacturers.

Under the existing trade conditions and the differences between the machine and the hand factories producing chimneys, trouble was expected in this trade. Yet, the wage conference committee of the workers' union, headed by President Charles E. Voitle, in the several conferences with the manufacturers secured for the men wage concessions amounting to practically all that was originally demanded.

Machine Gatherers' Advance.

The machine gatherers are to get an advance of nearly 16 per cent, the blowers having arranged that their share is to go to the gatherers. For the hand factory workers the advance through changes in rules will be equal to the demand, which was for an average advance of 7 per cent.

That the workers' committee could secure concessions in the chimney trade is notable from the fact that the inroads of electricity have materially lessened the demand for glass chimneys. The machine manufacturers fought for an extension of the limit on moves, so that their machines could earn something. At the end this contention was dropped to avoid a strike.

In all branches of the flint glass workers' trade the wage committees have succeeded in protecting former limits on the moves. In some instances the production limit was lessened.

On the whole the propositions which go to the workers practically eliminate possibility of trouble in any of the flint glass trade branches.

The concession offered by the pressed ware manufacturers yesterday means an advance of 10 per cent to the men since 1900.

IT WAS NO MURDER.

John Nalepa Merely Chastised His Wife, Which Started Sensational Reports.

John Nalepa, an Austrian employed at Kountz Bros.' brickyard, near Harmarville station, was very indignant yesterday at the wild reports that went over the country after he had simply whipped his wife. As Nalepa remarked, after he had heard of the sensational rumors, he did not see why an Austrian could not beat his wife as well as an Englishman could, without arousing the whole country.

About 2 p. m. Police Superintendent McAleese was told over the telephone from Harmarville that a man had killed his wife and barricaded himself in his house, threatening to kill the man who dared try to arrest him. A Gazette reporter went to Harmarville. Near the railroad station he was informed that John Nalepa had attacked his wife with a hatchet; that she was not yet dead; that Nalepa would let no one enter the house, and that there was no constable in the township. As the reporter went up Guys run he was told that Nalepa had shot Mrs. Edward Brooks besides trying to kill his wife.

When the reporter reached Napela's cabin Mrs. Nalepa was cooking supper and Nalepa, who was drunk, asked him into the house. Nalepa said he had boxed his wife's ears a couple of times. It turned out that Mrs. Nalepa had tried to close the door of the cellar, in which Nalepa had a quart of whisky, and that when she tried to get the hatchet with which she was nailing the door, she was accidentally cut on the wrist. A crowd gathered about the shanty and Nalepa, after ordering the people away, fired his revolver in the air. Nalepa may be arrested today, as Mrs. Josephine Kenler went up to Springdale on the train to make information against him for shooting off his revolver.

HAMILTON'S CLEARANCE SALE OF NEW, USED AND SECOND HAND PIANOS

Unusual conditions prevail at Hamilton's just now and as a result some most unusual bargains in new, used and second-hand pianos are to be had at this store. The basement is crowded with instruments that were either taken in exchange or have become slightly shopworn or have been rented for some months. And these must be cleared out at once, no matter at what price. The new fall stock is arriving, the warehouse is already pretty well crowded and we must have room.

About 75 of these used and shopworn pianos will be placed on sale today at prices that have seldom been equaled. Under circumstances like the present the question of profit is an entirely secondary consideration. Profit or no profit, the instruments must be sold at once.

Ordinarily the demand for such instruments is sufficient to prevent the accumulation on our hands of a very large number. This summer, however, this situation has been different. Never before in the history of Hamilton's were there so many pianos sold during the summer season. The demand was simply enormous. But most of our customers bought high-priced instruments. Many of them, taking advantage of the cool summer, omitted the usual vacation trip and put the money thus saved into a fine piano.

The result is that Hamilton's are now obliged to hold a clearance sale and make a sweeping cut in prices of instruments that ordinarily would have been eagerly taken by economical buyers as fast as we could supply them.

These instruments are all of good standard makes and include such names as Knabe, Weber, Decker, etc. They are all in excellent condition. Many of them have been used but very little and others are quite new but a little shopworn. One of these, for example, is worth $300 and another $350, but at this sale you can take your choice for $165.

The prices on upright pianos included in this sale range from $100 up. And there are some really splendid square grand pianos as low as $50. These instruments are all desirable and in every way worthy. Parents who wish to secure an instrument for the use of their children or persons who do not care to pay the full price for a piano for practice purposes will be delighted with this opportunity.

There are also a number of slightly used and shopworn organs included in this sale at prices ranging from $15 up. That they are most desirable organs is apparent from the fact that they include such names as Hamilton, Monarch, Burdett, Estey, Chicago Cottage, Clough & Warren and others.

Come in today and examine these instruments critically. Note their excellent condition and their sweetness of tone. Prices have been cut so low that these instruments will soon be disposed of. Better come in today and get the benefit of a larger choice. The store will remain open this evening till 10 o'clock, as usual on Saturday.

If you cannot call, write for full particulars, which will be furnished upon application.

Monthly payments if you prefer. Remember,

FIRST BRIGADE SHOOTS SECOND INTO BACK SEAT

Eastern Lads Carry Home State Trophy from Mt. Gretna.

MAKE NEW RANGE RECORD

Lieutenant Shields of Fourteenth Wins Revolver Match—Teams for Sea Grit Will Leave This Morning. Annual Guard Shoot Ends.

By ROBERT WRAY,
Staff Correspondent.

Rifle Range, Mt. Gretna, Pa., Aug. 22.—Leading the Second brigade by 68 points and the Third brigade by 32 points, the First brigade carried off the state trophy in the match today. All the indications pointed to such a result, and there was little surprise when the scorers announced that the Second brigade must pass the state trophy over to the men of the eastern brigade.

Matches of all kinds were scheduled, but no attention was given to them, and cheap jewelry, beside rifles and revolvers, which were given out at the close of the shoot, had no attraction for the men, as they had only come to the range to shoot for state prizes.

Today closed the last state shoot of the Pennsylvania national guard under the present military administration. When the last shot had been fired by the winning First brigade team, adieus were spoken, as the military recipients of Gov. Stone's favor recognized it was their last encampment.

The brigade match was the most uninteresting ever held at Mt. Gretna. It was a foregone conclusion that the First brigade would get the state trophy.

Came Up from Behind.

When the winning team left the 200-yard range this morning it was 16 points behind the Third brigade team. Interest then became centered in the match, and when the Third brigade team came to the second firing point, the winning team had reduced its lead six points. At the 600-yard range the first shot fired by the winning team sent its stock up, and as shot after shot was fired it cut down the lead of the Third brigade team.

When the score was announced it was seen that the First brigade team had shot the greatest record on the range, beating the Second brigade by 68 points and the Third brigade by 32 points. The highest individual scores made in the match, while not record-breakers, were Bunton, Sixth infantry, 93; Fleck, Sheridan troop, 87, and Brink, Thirteenth infantry, 90. The possible average at the three ranges is 105.

The revolver match was won by Lieut. George B. Shields of the Fourteenth regiment by a score of 87, beating Lieut. Wood of the Second City troop 3 points.

Just before the camp closed Gen. Schall, commanding the First brigade, came into camp and made a qualifying score with the Krag at all three ranges. He complimented his men for their excellent work in winning the brigade trophy.

Sea Girt Brigade Team.

The selection of the brigade team for Sea Girt was made late tonight. The western brigade will be represented by four members of the Sixteenth infantry and Sergeant W. J. Hay of the Fourteenth infantry. During the afternoon the Sea Girt team had practice on the 1,000-yard range, which had been erected yesterday. The teams for Sea Girt will leave for that range at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Shortly before the state teams left the range this afternoon prizes were presented by Col. Patterson. They consisted of the state trophies and individual prizes offered by the officers of the guard. So little interest was taken in the prizes offered by individuals that many of the teams left the range for their homes before they were presented.

Following is the score in the brigade match at the 200, 500 and 600 yard ranges: First regiment, 324, 354, 351, 1,029; Second brigade, 330, 364, 343, 971; Third brigade, 350, 358, 300, 1,007.

Two men of the Thirteenth regiment whose scores have been above the average during the week have been selected on the Sea Girt team. The team shooting at 1,000 yards this afternoon showed that the state will be well represented in the inter-state contest. Centers and fours were cut by nearly every individual member of the Pennsylvania team.

The Thexler match at 1,000 yards was won by the First brigade by 9 points.

MILLIONS SENT OUT.

Great Demand for Republican Campaign Textbook—Large Number of Copies of Speeches Also Mailed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—The document department of the Republican congressional committee has sent out 25,000,000 copies of the Republican textbook. The entire edition of the textbook aggregates 30,000,000 copies. Of the number sent out 12,000 have gone to chairmen of state committees and 20,000 to Republican nominees for congress.

There have also been sent out about 3,000,000 copies of the speeches of Representative Cooper of Wisconsin on civil government for the Philippine Islands; Representative Landis of Indiana on the Philippine question; Representative Hamilton of Michigan on "trusts;" Representatives Dalzell and Sibley on the Philippines, and Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire on prosperity and the protective tariff. About equal numbers of each speech have gone out, although the number of Senator Gallinger's speech is in excess of any other pamphlet.

These speeches have gone to every part of the country. The nature of the speech having the widest circulation is to some extent an indication of the issues assuming the most prominence in the campaign, as the nominee in each district is free to select the class of literature he thinks is most important.

NEW LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Religious Organization Is to Be Effected in Wilkinsburg Tomorrow.

A new Lutheran congregation is to be formed in Swissvale, with some 40 members as a nucleus. The Pittsburgh Synod has approved the move, and the organization will be formed under the direction of the Rev. S. T. Nicholas of Allegheny, secretary of the Home Mission board. Mr. Nicholas will be assisted by several other ministers.

The Swissvale mission has been in charge of Prof. T. B. Birch, of Mechanicsburg, for some time, and it was his efforts that brought about the organization that is to be effected. Prof. Birch is director of the Latin and English branches department in the female college near Harrisburg.

It is not unlikely that Prof. Birch will be called to the pastorate of the congregation which has grown under his charge. There are already 44 members of the Sunday school. The first services of the new congregation will be held tomorrow morning in Dickson's hall.

SOLVED THE MYSTERY OF A HORSE THEFT.

Jacob Leichet, a Millvale German, must be troubled with either a short memory or defective sight. Jacob got a rig from the livery firm of Pfeifer & Grawl. After driving around for some time he stopped at the corner of Ohio and Madison streets, Allegheny, and tying up his steed went into a near-by saloon for a lunch.

He met some friends there and the hour hand of the clock made several moves before he left and stepped outside only to discover, as he thought, that the rig had disappeared. After a search he notified the police of both cities of the supposed theft. Some time afterward Sergt. Jacob Snyder of the Allegheny police was passing Madison and Ohio streets and noticed a horse and buggy tied to a telegraph pole. It was Leichet's rig, and had been there all afternoon and evening.

SOLDIERS MUST STICK TO WIVES

TEMPORARY MARRIAGE WITH FILIPINOS TOO FREQUENT.

Must First Get Consent of Commanding Officer, or Will Be Dishonorably Discharged After Wedding—Gen. Chaffee Reports to War Department.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 22.—Gen. Chaffee has deemed the practice of enlisted soldiers marrying Filipino women of sufficient importance to report upon it to the war department, and the condition of affairs now is such that an enlisted man who marries without permission of his commanding officer will run the risk of being discharged from the service without honor, on the ground that his marriage has impaired his capacity for duty.

In a communication received at the war department several weeks ago, Gen. Chaffee referred to the fact that soldiers frequently married Filipino women, and the tenor of his comment was that rather than compel or give the soldier an excuse to desert from the native wife he would order the soldier discharged without honor.

When a soldier enlists he is required to state that he is not married. Thus if he marries later without the permission of his commanding officer he may be held to have violated his enlistment contract.

Army chaplains have the right to marry anyone they please, but they customarily do not marry enlisted men without the consent of the commanding officers. Generally such consent is withheld in the case of the enlisted men, inasmuch as at posts there are limited accommodations for married commissioned officers.

If the soldiers in the Philippines marry native women and then when their regiments are ordered away attempt to desert them, they may be held as having been guilty of conduct prejudicial to good discipline and dropped from the service on that score.

FOUGHT WITH SIGEL.

Eightieth Birthday of Peter Kolbecker, a Well-Known German-American.

Peter Kolbecker, one of the oldest and most popular German residents of the city, is 80 years old today. The occasion will be celebrated quietly at the family home, No. 319 South Craig street. It will take the form of a family reunion. Mr. Holbecker was born in 1822 at Gaggenau, Baden, Germany. In his early days he was apprenticed to a tailor, but the life of a soldier proved more attractive to him. He was a member of one of the crack cavalry companies of the German empire. During the provincial revolution of 1849 Mr. Holbecker was made captain of the lang guards and served under Gen. Franz Sigel, the noted soldier who died in New York Thursday. After the battle of Rastatt in which the revolutionists were routed, Mr. Holbecker sailed for America, arriving here June 30, 1850.

He came direct to Pittsburgh. In his day he conducted a saloon in Smithfield street, which was the rendezvous of the more cultured German-Americans and of notable literary characters. He founded the first Turn Verein society in this city in 1851 and was instrumental in the organization of several singing societies. He was married in 1852. In 1858 he formed the Pittsburgh section of the German Sharpshooters, who did notable work during the civil war. At the outbreak of the war Mr. Kolbecker built Fort Germania on Duquesne Heights. He was also instrumental in organizing the saloonkeepers of the city. For the past nine years he has been United States storekeeper in the Twenty-third revenue district.

BABY BOY'S AWFUL END.

Little Allegheny Lad Played With Matches and Was So Horribly Burned Death Was Relief.

Sylvester, the 3-year-old son of William Bongar of 2 Caldwell street, Allegheny, was burned so badly while playing with matches yesterday that he died at St. John's General hospital last night. John Botosky, an uncle of the children, had both hands severely burned while trying to put out the flames and is a patient at the hospital.

The child went into the yard back of his home, alone, and started a fire among some dry leaves and brush piled. Where the child got the matches, or how his clothing caught fire, is not known. His clothing was all ablaze when his uncle discovered him. The child's body was burned all over, and the little fellow died in terrible agony.

The parents of the child were absent from home at the time, and both are almost crazy over the loss of their boy, their only child. The coroner was notified.

W. S. Byers Was Served.

The sheriff of Westmoreland county yesterday made a return of service in the equity suit of Jacob Byers against W. S. Byers of Greensburg. The action is to restrain the defendant from opening a box in the vault of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company, also a defendant. The plaintiff asks for an accounting of $175,000 in stock and $40,000 in cash. The case will be taken up in November.

Why not? A little vanity is a good thing. Perhaps you can't be hair-vain, your hair is so thin, so short, so gray. Then use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It stops falling of the hair, makes the hair grow, and always restores color to gray hair.

Pittsburgh Girl Is Rescued from Drowning; Coke Shortage Reaches Crisis in Youngstown

RESCUED GIRL FROM DROWNING

HER COMPANION GAVE ALARM

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 22.—Conductor Francis Shrum of the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Greensburg street railway rescued a little girl from drowning in the reservoir of the Westmoreland Water Company today. The rescue was made possible by the bravery of Agnes Shrum, little daughter of J. W. Shrum.

As the car was descending a steep grade near Manor, Motorman Harry Lauffer saw a girl waving frantically for the car to be brought to a stop. The brake was applied and the child cried hysterically that a little companion had fallen into the reservoir.

Just as the child, Nellie McCauley, who was a visitor from Pittsburgh at the Shrum home, was going down for the third time, Conductor Shrum reached the water's edge. He made a plunge into the reservoir and grasped the child. The girl revived after half an hour and was taken home.

Woman Rescued from Lake.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Consternation was caused by the Cascade Park electric launch running down a rowboat full of picnickers of the park lake last night. Mrs. Myrtle Butler of this city was thrown into the water. The launch stopped and Edward Houk rescued the woman.

DUSS IS WELL PLEASED.

Says People Realize That His Is the the Finest Band in America.

John S. Duss, the well-known Economite band leader and trustee, who has been filling a summer engagement with his band at St. Nicholas garden, New York, arrived in Pittsburgh last evening on the Pennsylvania limited en route to Economy, the home of the harmony society. He will leave this evening on his return.

"I am more than well pleased with the reception that has been accorded my band in New York," he said at the Union station. "There has grown a realization that it is the finest band America ever had. Its musical status is the highest. Nothing lower than a Strauss waltz ever appears on the program, although of course popular numbers are given as encores. The papers have been very good to the organization.

"My plan for a theater this winter is not yet settled. There have been some plans made for using the Circle auditorium, and I rather expect this will be done.

"The present trip is purely to look after some interests of the Economite society that demand my presence just now. Although in New York all summer, I have directed the operations of the society by mail. One day will be enough to clear these matters up, I think.

"Among the most pleasant events of the summer was the special concert in honor of the party of teachers who enjoyed The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph European excursion. It was a pleasure to have so representative a party of people from my own section of the country present under such auspices."

DOG KEEPS VIGIL AT WOMAN'S GRAVE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Aug. 22.—By a newly-made grave on the shaded slopes of Hill Grove cemetery a faithful Newfoundland dog keeps watch over his dead mistress. For almost two weeks he has kept this lonely vigil, and at night people in the neighborhood are startled by his disconsolate wailings.

"Brunb" was the pet of Mrs. Lucinda Dorman of Adelaide, a small mining village two miles from here. He watched by the bedside of his mistress during her long illness, and when death relieved her sufferings he followed the funeral bier to the cemetery here. Whining piteously, the dog stood among the mourners during the ceremony at the grave and then lay down by the newly-made mound.

Gravedigger Slicher has tried to coax the animal to his house, but his efforts have been fruitless. The animal growls savagely when a stranger approaches.

MAIL MESSENGER ARRESTED.

Pennsylvania Railroad Employe Is Charged With Theft.

ALTOONA, PA., Aug. 22.—Paul Beegle, aged 18, a mail messenger employed by the Pennsylvania railroad, was arrested today for stealing satchels and dress suit cases at the passenger station. He would use the contents, if anything struck his fancy, and sell the remainder. Being in the employ of the company, he was not suspected until recently. Then he was watched and caught with the goods on him.

He had men's and women's clothing of all descriptions in his room. Passengers who lost satchels and dress cases have collected hundreds of dollars' damages from the Pennsylvania company. Beegle is in jail at Hollidaysburg awaiting a hearing.

AGED WOMAN IN JAIL.

Mrs. Hoffman, 74 Years Old, Charged With Surety of Peace.

GREENSBUG, PA., Aug. 22.—(Special)—The unusual case of a woman 74 years old being committed to jail charged with surety of the peace and with being a common nuisance to the residents of the community in which she resides, occurred here today.

Constable William Muffley took into custody Mrs. Kate E. Hoffman of Avonmore. She is said to have threatened to annihilate her family and her neighbors. The children of the village were afraid to venture outside their homes, fearing the woman.

Death from Reckless Running.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Coroner Wynn has concluded the long drawn out inquest in the Packsaddle railroad disaster, in which Engineer Kemmerling of Altoona and the fireman lost their lives. The verdict was that the engineer came to his death through reckless running, the engine having jumped the track. An examination of the engine showed that the boiler had not blown up as reported.

Court to Approve Contract.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—The Westmoreland county commissioners will not make a selection of a contractor for the building of the new court house. In view of the fact that Judges Doty and McDonnell disapproved the award recently given out, it was decided today by the commissioners that all the bids and estimates received last week would be placed before the court for its approval.

Negro Escaped Jail.

BLAIRSVILLE, PA., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—William Jasper, the negro who was brought here to answer a charge of obtaining money under false pretense, made by Burgess M. E. Brown, escaped today when Constable Glnter unlocked the door of the lockup for the burgess to talk to the prisoner. Jasper rushed out, knocked Brown down and got away.

IRON FURNACES TO BE BANKED

Coke Shortage Reaches Crisis in the Mahoning Valley.

SUPPLY ALMOST ALL GONE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 22.—The past 24 hours have brought the coke situation to a crisis, and within the next 24 hours furnaces throughout the valley will be banked. Preparations have been made tonight for the banking of one of the furnaces of the Republic and others will follow.

"I do not think that any of the furnaces of the valley will be in operation on Sunday," said one of the operators. "That is with the possible exception of the Ohio steel plant furnaces. Coke is impossible to get and while we have been hoping against hope, that this situation could be staved off, we have now come to the conclusion that the banking down of the furnaces is inevitable. There is no hope of immediate relief and we do not know what we will do. The shippers blame this state of affairs on the railroads, and the railroads blame it on the shippers. Wherever the blame is to be placed, the result is the same, with us.

"We cannot possibly exist over Sunday with one day's supply of coke cut off. During the last week we have been receiving three and six cars of coke per day for furnaces, which required over 50 cars.

"While the National Steel Company is getting no preference in the shipment of coke, the only way they will keep the furnaces here going is to draw coke from other furnaces owned by them." This opinion is echoed by nearly every operator in the valley, and preparations are being made in accordance.

AT THE NATIONAL WHITE HOUSE A VETERAN USHER USES PE-RU-NA.

Thirty-six years in the White House is the record of Thomas F. Pendel, an usher, who was appointed November 3, 1866, by President Lincoln. He is the oldest employe at the White House, and is the only survivor of the force on duty at the Executive Mansion during the Lincoln administration.

He is still hale and hearty as the day he entered the service, although he is seventy-six years of age.

Although this interesting old gentleman has found small need of medicine during his life, he has tested the virtues of the world famous catarrh remedy, Peruna. In a recent letter he says:

"I can conscientiously recommend Peruna to anyone suffering from stomach trouble in any form, especially in catarrhal trouble of the stomach."

THOS. F. PENDEL.

Every human organ is subject to catarrh so Dr. Hartman says in a recent lecture at The Hartman Sanitarium. No part or organ of the human body is secure from catarrh. Catarrh goes everywhere, stops nowhere.

It spreads and spreads and, if not cured, pervades the whole body. It never stops where once it gets started, unless cured.

Below is given a list of the organs most commonly affected by catarrh, with the most prominent symptoms caused by it.

Catarrh of the head and frontal sinus, headache; catarrh of the eyes, watery eyes; catarrh of the nose, discharges and scabs; catarrh of the throat, hawking and painful swallowing; catarrh of the larynx, hoarseness; catarrh of the stomach, dyspepsia; catarrh of the bronchial tubes, cough and soreness; catarrh of the lungs, consumption; catarrh of the liver, biliousness; catarrh of the duodenum, wasting; catarrh of the small intestines, diarrhoea; catarrh of the kidneys, Bright's disease; catarrh of the bladder, smarting and scalding; catarrh of the pelvic organs, urinary and female difficulties.

Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. Peruna is a systemic medicine and does not depend on local applications for a cure. Peruna cures permanently. It gradually eliminates the disease from the system and removes the symptoms by removing the cause of the disease.

Everyone having any of the above symptoms should take a thorough course of Peruna. Dr. Hartman's latest book on chronic catarrh is a 64-page book instructively illustrated. It is now being sent free by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

OLD SOLDIERS' RALLY.

The annual reunion of the original Thirteenth regiment, which was later known as the One Hundred and Second regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers of the civil war, was held yesterday at Kennywood park, and during the day was attended by at least 2,000 people, including the survivors and their families. The reunion lasted from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night, and was the most successful affair of the kind that the regiment has ever held.

The business meeting was called to order shortly after 10 o'clock by Capt. S. W. Duvall, formerly of Company E, the president, and after the minutes of the last meeting, held at Butler in 1901, were read and approved, the secretary, Lieut. David A. Jones, formerly of Company E, read the announcement of the death of 11 members during the past year. Pending the report of the committee four or five short addresses were made by several comrades, and the old battle flag of the regiment, which had been presented by the ladies of Pittsburgh in 1861, and which is only exhibited at the annual reunions, was unfurled and was greeted with three rousing cheers.

The election of officers followed and resulted in the unanimous re-election of the former incumbents: Capt. S. W. Duvall, president; Lieut. David A. Jones, secretary; Lieut. Presley Brown, treasurer, and William Douthett, chaplain.

The afternoon session was in the nature of a campfire and consisted of addresses by Comrades Frank Blair, Charles F. McKenna, Frank Boyle, John Moreland, Maj. Robert Lyon and J. C. Wasson. Phinney's band was in attendance and furnished music all day.

SHOT BY HER HUSBAND.

John McAllister Says It Was Accidental, but He Is Under Arrest.

Mrs. John McAllister of No. 2007 Lytle street, Hazelwood, was shot accidentally at her home yesterday afternoon, and is lying in the Homeopathic hospital in a serious condition. Her husband is locked up in Hazelwood police station, and will be charged this morning with felonious shooting. Inspector Robert Denniston of the Second district will make this information on the strength of evidence gleaned on the premises.

McAllister claims he was oiling his gun yesterday afternoon when it accidentally exploded, the ball entering the woman's left shoulder. Inspector Denniston states that the gun is of the bulldog style, and that three empty chambers were found in it, and two loaded ones. The neighbors claim they heard three shots fired, though McAllister insists that there was but one. The ball has not been extracted, and it is feared it may have entered the woman's chest. She was said to be resting at midnight. The physicians say she may recover if the bullet is taken out.

H. K. Gee, who live near the McAllisters, was passing by at the time of the shooting, and hurried into the house. McAllister told him that his revolver had exploded. Mrs. McAllister ran to the door screaming that she had been shot. She asked Gee to get a physician. Later the woman was taken to the hospital, and her husband arrested.

FOR A GENERAL SCALE.

Pittsburgh Structural Iron Workers Advocate This Arrangement.

The Pittsburgh district delegates to the annual convention of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers will meet Sunday to arrange their votes on matters that will be presented to the convention. The Pittsburgh organization is strongly in favor of making a general scale with all concerns, recognizing only logical territorial differentials. This would mean that in whatever territory an employer be working he could employ none but members of the association. A contest for such a scale was dropped by the men during the last negotiations.

On September 10 the executive board of the organization will go into session at Chicago preliminary to the general convention at Milwaukee, September 15. The Pittsburgh union sends one fewer delegate than last year, not because the organization has lapsed, but failure to meet the tax payment has cut down the quota. John McCabe, former secretary of the Pittsburgh organization, is the only Pittsburgh member of the executive board.

TOO PROUD TO BEG.

Woman Dies From Starvation Rather Than Appeal for Aid.

BALTIMORE, MD., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Sarah Schumacher, aged 70, was found dead in her room last night. Her daughter, Martha, was wandering in a half crazed condition about the lower floor of their home. Coroner Jones said today that Mrs. Schumacher had died from starvation. Martha Schumacher said she and her mother were too proud to tell any one of their impoverished condition and that for several days neither had a meal.

It is said the Schumachers have well-to-do relatives in Philadelphia and Virginia. Ill health rendered Martha the sole support of her widowed mother, unable to work for several weeks.

EXPOSITION MAY LOSE TOBOGGAN ROLLER COASTER

Haverhill Company Asks Court to Compel T. M. Harton to Destroy It.

DEMANDS MONEY MADE

Plaintiff Alleges Pittsburgher Infringed on Patent Rights in Its Construction and Wants Perpetual Injunction and an Accounting.

A bill in equity was filed yesterday in the United States circuit court by the Haverhill Roller Toboggan Company of Haverhill, Mass., against T. Marsh Harton. The bill asks for an injunction on the defendant restraining him from using the roller coaster or "sliding hill" in the Pittsburgh exposition grounds, and that a decree be made on him to deliver to the plaintiff all the profits made since the device was constructed in September, 1901.

The bill sets forth that the plaintiff company is the owner of patent rights which fully cover all the detail of construction of the exposition coaster, and that its construction and operation were in violation of these patent rights. The patent owned by the Haverhill Company was granted on an invention of Byron B. Floyd and, it is alleged, covers all manner of toboggan coasters. The bill asks for a decree for the defendant for the destruction of the Exposition coaster and a return to the plaintiff of all money made on the device.

The court made an order on the defendant to show cause why the injunction should not be made. The rule is returnable on September 9.

BANK'S PETITION REFUSED.

Referee Decides Collateral to a Note Was Not Identified.

An opinion was filed yesterday by Referee W. R. Blair in the bankruptcy case of the Hussey Steel Company. A petition had been filed by the First National bank of New Kensington alleging ownership of certain Bessemer billets and that the same had been given by the Hussey Company to secure a $2,000 loan, and a bill of sale of the billets made to the bank.

The billets were on the property of the Hussey company and signs were placed on them stating that they belonged to the bank. The bank made a demand on the receiver of the estate for the steel but was refused on the ground that the property belonged to the bankrupt's estate. The referee in his opinion said:

"There is no doubt that the bank loaned the money on the faith of the collateral mentioned, and that the officers of the Hussey Steel Compan, intended to pledge the property mentioned, and thought they were doing all that was necessary to secure the title to the bank, yet from the testimony in the case the referee is unable to find that prior to March, 1902, the said billets were sufficiently identified to carry the title to the bank."

The referee refused the petition of the bank.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

The Fidelity Title and Trust Company took out letters of administration on the $1,500 estate of Mary J. Orr.

The inventory and appraisement of the personal estate of George A. McMasters shows a valuation of $1,400.

A precipe in an assumpsit suit was filed by McCready & Moore against George Von Bonnhorst. No statement accompanied it.

The will of Lucy M. Carnahan of Pittsburgh was filed for probate. Her entire estate, which is not estimated, is bequeathed to her husband.

An affidavit of defense was filed in the case of Charles Eckerle against the Americus Republican club to recover an alleged balance for services as a steward. It is said by the defendant that the agreement with the plaintiff was not for any definite period and that his services were unsatisfactory.

Isaac Moten sued George Edward Evans for $500. His claims that he rented a house belonging to the defendant at No. 1902 Irwin avenue, Allegheny, and that when he attempted to enter it he found the doors had been spiked and barred. He declares that his family was homeless for a time and that he was put to a great expense.

HIT A SOLDIER.

The Experience of One of Our Men.

The soldier boys who fought during the Rebellion went home as a rule in pretty bad shape, caused by exposure and improper food and the use of quantities of coffee, which left its mark in the wreck of many a stomach. Merrill Hutchinson of Reading, Mass., tells his experience:

"I am an old soldier who served all through the war of the Rebellion and my coffee drinking commenced when I enlisted. I drank it three times a day and at the close of the war returned home almost a wreck.

"For years I had dyspepsia of the worst kind and could not drink anything but warm water or warm milk, nor eat enough to hardly keep a man alive. After suffering this way for years, and half living, I was told by a friend of your Postum Coffee.

"At first I refused to even try it, for I thought it meant more suffering for me, but at last I consented and it did taste mighty good, for I was a dear lover of coffee.

"I waited for the distress in my stomach that always had come with common coffee, but it never came. I drank it at first very carefully and then got reckless and wanted it every meal and for over five years now have been drinking nothing else. I have no dyspepsia now, no trouble about eating anything. My weight, when I began using Postum Cereal Food Coffee, was 125 pounds. I am now 62 years old and weigh about 160 pounds and am solid as a rock and able to do a day's work with any of the boys. Now I do not claim that Postum Cereal is a medicine, but in my own case it is both victuals and drink. I think that when Postum Coffee is properly made it is far ahead of coffee."

PROSPECT OF PEACE BETWEEN ROADS

OFFICIALS OF WABASH AND LAKE ERIE HOLD A CONFERENCE.

South Side Dispute May Be Taken from the Courts—Ramsey Leaves for St. Louis—Right of Way Troubles in West Virginia.

President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash, and Chief Engineer J. W. Patterson of the Wabash extension to Pittsburgh, met in conference yesterday with officials of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad and discussed the proposed Wabash line on the South Side.

Not a word was given out by either side as to the outcome of the conference, but those most closely in touch with the situation think the prospects good for the settlement of the whole fight outside the courts. If a compromise can be arranged it will be more acceptable to each side than to await long litigation. It is certain, however, that the Wabash will not give up its plan for a line into the Jones & Laughlin plant.

President Ramsey left last night for his St. Louis headquarters after spending three very busy days in Pittsburgh. Outside of the Lake Erie fight he took up in detail the progress of the work in West Virginia.

This West Virginia work has been watched eagerly by the Baltimore & Ohio. Every survey the Wabash has made has been followed by Baltimore & Ohio engineers and the courts will probably be called upon to settle which has the right of way before the new Wabash line is built. Of course the contest between the two roads in that region is but a repetition of the old Wabash-Pennsylvania struggle, of which Pittsburgh has seen so many instances within 18 months. The Baltimore & Ohio is doing this anti-Wabash work under the order of its own, the Pennsylvania. With the brains and money back of the aggressive Gould line, however, there is little doubt as to its succeeding in forcing its way through to its connections.

OBJECTS TO A SEWER.

James Hawkins Files Suit Alleging Rankin Borough Has Exceeded Its Legal Indebtedness.

James Hawkins yesterday filed a bill in equity in common pleas court No. 3 against the borough of Rankin, protesting against the building of a sewer. He asks for an injunction restraining the borough from constructing it.

The plaintiff declares the valuation of the taxable property in the borough is $2,711,450 and the existing indebtedness $71,400, so that the indebtedness exceeds 2 per cent of the assessed valuation. It is declared that council has passed an ordinance for the construction of a 20-inch sewer from Swissvale avenue through the plaintiff's property to Patterson street. It is set forth that no provision has been made for the width of the strip of land to be taken, and that no petition for the sewer has been filed. It is also declared that no ordinance has been passed requiring an assessment to pay the cost of the sewer, and that no application or petition has been filed for the improvement.

In conclusion it is stated that the electors have not given their assent to the improvement, but that notwithstanding this the authorities have made a contract for the erection of the sewer at a cost of $1,660.

MAYOR BLACK AT WORK.

Seizes an Opportunity to Make Trouble for Traction Monopoly.

The city of McKeesport, through Mayor R. J. Black, became involved last winter in a bitter controversy with the Pittsburgh Railways Company over the question of removing the snow thrown up beside the car tracks by the trolley sweepers. The traction company fought the city to a finish on the matter and the mayor vowed vengeance.

Yesterday the corporation had a gang of 30 men under a foreman at work in the Tenth ward, without a permit from the city. Ordinance Officer Charles Baird discovered the violation of the city law and informed the mayor. He was immediately ordered to arrest the men. As a result the entire gang lost three hours' work and the traction company had to put up $370 in forfeits for their appearance at a hearing this morning.

TWELVE PAGES.

Municipal Revenues.

The correspondence passing between Controller Larkin and Recorder Brown is illuminating the financial situation of the city. The Recorder does not appear to be very familiar with the details and the facts and figures supplied by the controller ought to be valuable to him. The controller submits estimates indicating that there will be a deficit of over a million at the end of the fiscal year if expenditures are made as are now contemplated. The controller declares that he will not approve any expenditures for which there is not money to meet, and if this policy is vigorously adhered to the deficit will be prevented at the cost of a heap of unpaid accounts which the city will eventually have to meet.

Municipal conditions are such that large outlays are unavoidable if the city is to progress. New bridges must be built and old ones reconstructed, the parks must be improved so as to fit them for popular use and enjoyment, a decent municipal hospital must be provided, also a better water supply, and in various ways money can be well spent to the profit and advantage of the people. Nothing would be more hurtful to Pittsburgh, nothing more expensive in the end, than the adoption of a hold-back and cramp policy. At the same time direct taxation is as heavy as can be borne and the need of economy is manifest.

The city has, however, large neglected resources, which if properly developed can produce a large revenue. The Philadelphia Company pays nothing for its occupancy of the streets and should be made to pay a fair percentage of its receipts. No franchise of any kind to the use of public property should be granted without public compensation. The day when desired legislation could be put through councils on the basis of a deal with the bosses has gone never to return. The money must go into the public treasury and not into the pockets of the politicians. Railroad corporations will soon be asking extensive franchises for the use of waterside thoroughfares to the Point, and, judging from the way they deal with other cities, they will expect to offer a substantial return for the privileges they desire. It should be the policy of the city to let them have everything in reason, but they must pay here for what they get as they do elsewhere. If city affairs are wisely and providently administered during the next few years the public revenues will be augmented at the same time that relief is extended to the taxpayers.

Recorder Brown's Appeal.

Recorder Brown's manifesto as chairman of the old organization is faulty in its logic. He says that "the men at the head of the so-called Citizens movement have but one object in view—to gain control of the Republican party." He predicts that the Citizens party will "cease to exist the moment those leading it shall have accomplished their purpose." Later on he declares that "the Citizens movement is but a campaign against the Republican party." But he himself has just admitted that the movement is not against the party, but against its present control.

This slip was probably occasioned by the habit of regarding the officeholders as the party. That is an error which the present trend of political activity promises to correct. Mr. Brown is wrong in thinking that the party exists for the benefit of the control; the control exists for the benefit of the party, and it must justify itself by its record or give way to more efficient control.

Mr. Brown closes by giving a pledge that he will not be a candidate for election to the office of recorder. This sounds as if he recognized the necessity of some change of control, although he started out by deprecating it. More cogent and consistent argument will be necessary to set the claims of Recorder Brown's organization before the voters in a favorable light.

Cuban Prospects.

The miseries endured by Cuba from Spanish rule promise to be outdone by those which she will experience from the philanthropy of the United States. Spanish administration was corrupt and inefficient, but there was never any convincing evidence that the real people of Cuba, those who utilize her resources and are interested in the maintenance of social order, ever desired independence. The revolution was largely the outcome of industrial conditions, mainly due to the artificial separation of the island from its natural market, the United States. The property owners were unable to provide work for the laboring classes and revolutionary leadership was thus provided with a following. The insurrection never, however, attained the importance attributed to it and was in a state of collapse when the United States intervened. There was ample moral justification for doing so, as Spain's inability to keep order exposed this country to continual injury which we had a right to abate, but in ousting Spain we took upon ourselves the responsibility for good government in Cuba.

Our action in making Cuba an independent state does not relieve us in any respect from the consequences. That independence was altogether of our making and the act was a national sin. It is true that it was done with sentimental pretense of high moral purpose, but the true moral nature of every act is determined by its character and consequences, and not by the pretenses which accompany it. The whole policy was a piece of sentimental humbug. It was as if a strong man broke into a house where children were being maltreated, chased away their cruel guardians and then turned the children loose to shift for themselves, while he went about bragging how he had conferred upon them their independence. We took charge of Cuba and we are responsible for Cuba. The pretense that we have ended the matter by making it independent only adds the meanness of hypocrisy to the disgrace of violated moral obligation.

To find a historic parallel for our conduct we must go back to the Jacobins of the French revolution, who were always prating about the natural rights of man when busy violating the actual rights of man. Meanwhile it appears as if malicious ingenuity had been employed to intensify the evil consequences. The industrial isolation of Cuba, which was the fundamental cause of the chronic disorder of her government, we have increased by losing her the Spanish market. It is true that the president, the house of representatives and the vast majority of the people favor reciprocity with Cuba, but the legislative hold-up was successfully worked in the senate to prevent enactment, and since every country is bound by the working of its institutions, the result is a national responsibility.

Meanwhile there is every evidence that Cuba is sinking into depths of misery whose outcome will be the mixture of revolution and anarchy characteristic of Central American states. In Matanzas it is reported that 25,000 laborers are out of employment from the stoppage of work on plantations. In Pinar del Rio the mills are closing. In Las Villas the peasants are killing their cattle for food. Public works are suspended in some towns and beggars swarm in the streets. The revolutionary party is getting the upper hand in the Cuban congress. Senor Terry, who was a member of Gov. Wood's administration and was continued in office by President Palma because of his ability and experience, proposed a loan of $4,000,000 for needed aid to agricultural interests. It was met by a counter proposal to borrow $35,000,000 for back pay and pensions to the Cuban army, and Senor Terry has been forced to resign. Conservative influences are weakening, the professional patriot and agitator of the Latin-American type is coming to the front, and the present prospect is that under the control of the United States Cuba will fare even worse than under Spanish rule.

The President in New England.

President Roosevelt began yesterday a tour of the New England states which will take him to most of the principal cities and towns of that section, and which will include short visits to several places of importance. The visit of the president is primarily of a private nature, as he goes to make one or two long-promised personal visits to friends, but opportunity will also be afforded him of meeting and speaking to the people throughout the region covered by the itinerary and who have been looking forward to the visit with great pleasure. President Roosevelt is not a conventional orator, but his contact with the people possesses peculiarly tonic qualities. His frankness, his thorough honesty of speech and democracy of manner win the respect and hold the attention of the people to good purpose.

The present tour is to be wholly informal and free from anything that smacks of political stumping, and for this reason will no doubt be productive of much good fellowship and mutual advantage for all concerned.

Playing a New Role.

The down-trodden chorus girl has at last, like the proverbial worm, turned upon her persecutors. For many years the helpless victim of every flippant paragrapher who might turn his pencil against her, and subject to the broadest inferences that the penny-a-line newspaper cubs might see fit to indulge, she has suffered in silence and without a friend strong enough to vindicate her claims. But at last, tired of waiting for a champion, the chorus girl has undertaken to fight her own battles, and the methods she has adopted are thoroughly modern and up to date. The news dispatches tell us that, in resentment of certain strictures regarding their conduct at Atlantic City by a Philadelphia newspaper, the girls, armed with hat pins and various kinds of fruits and vegetables in a bad state of repair, made a wholesale attack upon the local bureau of the journal in question and completely routed the ungallant representatives, after which they made rough house of the entire quarters, leaving them in a condition of complete demoralization.

Such vigorous methods may not be commended on general grounds of law and order, but it must be recalled that the patience of even a chorus girl may reach a point where it no longer constitutes a virtue.

The Business Situation.

The dull period of the year, particularly in financial and commercial circles, usually occurs in August. For one thing, it is the vacation season for all save the farmer, and for another thing, it is the critical period for some of our most important crops. Speculative markets remain nearly stationary pending definite news from the farm and developments in the money market. The present month, however, has thus far failed to show any decided let-up in business activity. This week the stock market was active, and on one day the shares of more than a score of corporations advanced to the highest prices of the year. There was also a fair degree of activity and advanced prices in the grain markets, due not to any unfavorable change in the condition of domestic crops, but to improvement in the foreign demand, the exports of wheat for the week aggregating 6,000,000 bushels, the largest for a long while.

In Pittsburgh bank exchanges are averaging more than $6,000,000 a day, being an increase of nearly $1,000,000 a day over the corresponding day last year, and more than $1,000,000 a day over the like period in 1900. There were no transactions out of the ordinary to swell the figures this week. On the contrary, the business was well distributed, and represented activity in industrial affairs. In this respect Pittsburgh may be taken as a criterion of other commercial centers. This statement is fortified not only by clearing house figures, but by the reports of railway traffic all over the country. Forty-three roads for the second week in August show an average net increase of nearly 7 per cent over the same week last year, which in turn showed an increase over 1900.

During the week the treasury department reported transfers of currency to the south, the first of the season, and within the next two weeks the west and northwest will be calling for funds to move the crops. This movement, coming simultaneously with general trade activity, and also at a time when stock market values are at their highest notch, puts an unusual strain upon banking accommodations. Evidently the grain and cotton shipper, the manufacturer and the stock market speculator cannot all be accommodated at the same time, and the latter is the one whose business can best wait. If the speculator insists upon booming markets, he must either outbid other borrowers for loans or he must go abroad for funds. The sharp decline in sterling exchange rates indicates that Wall street has made extensive additional loans in Europe. This will tide over the usual period of stringency in the money market, and before the foreign loans fall due it is probable that shipments of cotton and breadstuffs will be of sufficient volume to pay off the score. At all events there is no present indication of serious disturbance or abnormal rates in the money market.

For the third successive year the business of the country is passing through midsummer without apparent diminution of volume, and the assurance of abundant crops foreshadows continued activity.

The Hospitable Heathen.

From the New York Times.

It was high noon, and Monday. Worse yet, it was the 19th day of the month. A knock at the kitchen door of the Burns mansion. The Chinese servant opened the door. A tramp of long and varied experience accosted him.

"I've been traveling, and have played in mighty hard luck," observed the tramp. "I lost all of my money in an attempt to corner oats, and now I'm hungry; very, very hungry. Can't you please give me a little bite of something to eat?"

The Chinaman comprehended the situation at once. A benevolent, placid smile spread over his entire countenance.

"You likee fish?" he asked of the tramp.

"Yes, I like fish first rate. That will do as well as anything."

"Come Friday," said the hospitable heathen.

EUROPEAN SEASON COMES TO AN END

Americans Returning Home to Earn Money Enough to Go Again Next Summer.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.

One of the suggestions of approaching fall in this city is the number of European travelers that come home on every ocean liner. There is nothing going on in Europe now. The Pittsburgher that made this remark to me today spoke figuratively, of course, but one might suppose, from the crowds of Americans thronging the piers of the various steamship companies every time a vessel comes in, that he meant what he said literally. It looks as if there were nothing further of interest to Americans in Europe—at least until next summer. With J. Pierpont Morgan in New York, George Westinghouse at his country home on this side of the Atlantic, and other powers in industry and finance all gathering in their home towns after a few months in Europe, it is evident that the center of business interest will be in the United States for the winter, as usual. It is not only men great in industrial, financial and commercial affairs that are coming over in shoals every week, however. A glance at the registers of the big hotels here reveals the fact that people in all walks of life reach this city from across the water, and stay here for a day or two before going to their home towns. The theatrical element is large, of course. This is the season when rehearsals either are in full swing or just about to begin. The prominent people in theatricals have mostly spent the summer somewhere in Europe, but must be back for rehearsal, no matter how important they are in the profession. Many of them live in hotels permanently while in this city, and familiar stage names may be found on the registers, while their owners are to be met in Broadway every day in the week. The shopping districts are crowded with customers and shopkeepers. Many of the people who walk up and down the thoroughfares whereon are the big stores have just come over, and last week may have been strolling along Regent street or examining gewgaws in Le Bon marche. In short, New York is full of people, and at least 10 per cent of them carry on their faces ocean tan that was never got within 500 miles of shore.

Ernest Hastings Branching Out.

Ernest Hastings, a few years ago one of the most popular members of the Grand Opera House Stock Company in Pittsburgh, is about to branch out in an important theatrical enterprise. It is said along Broadway that a syndicate, heavily capitalized, will organize the Ernest Hastings Stock Company, to play in several of the larger cities of the country. The organization will be formed on the lines of the famous Charles Wyndham Stock Company of a few years ago, playing only productions of the highest class, both old and new. Shakespeare, Sheridan, Sardou, Pinero, Grundy, Augustus Thomas, Bronson Howard, and other famed dramatists, American and foreign, will be represented, and it is intended, as well to put forth new plays that seem meritorious regardless of the authorship from time to time. Mr. Hastings will be leading man, and the rest of the company will be composed of personages who have won their spurs in the lists of theatrical art. A well-known Pittsburgh manager is interested in the project, which already is well under way.

"Big Chief" Has an Imitator.

"Big Chief" Devery has much to answer for by instituting his whirlwind campaign in the Ninth district of New York. He has been giving free beer and other good things to the voters, in the expectation that they will choose him for their political leader, and now other candidates for honors in various parts of the city are following his example. Michael J. Hines, a Republican, wants to be leader of the Second district. This is the East Side neighborhood, in the shadow of the Brooklyn bridge, where Paddy Divver used to be Tammany leader, and of whom it is said that once, after an election day, his spirit was nearly broken because four Republican votes were found in the ballot box. Said Divver: "I knew there had to be three, on account of the judge and clerks, but I'll kill the man that cast the fourth." In this unpromising district, Mr. Hines declares he has 500 Republican votes. To which a scornful Tammanyite replied tonight: "Five hundred, has he? Any of us could get 5,000 for any old party in Park Row, by simply yelling free beer."

Coal Famine Hard on Poor.

While some persons declare that coal will be nearly as cheap this winter as it was last year, there are others who say that the poor people of New York will be absolutely without fuel most of the time. Robert Hunter, a well-known university settlement worker, asserted this morning that 30 per cent of the people of the East Side will have no coal this winter. Most of these people buy coal by the pailful, and pay two or three times as much as it would cost them by the ton. The price to them at present is 50 cents per 100 pounds, an increase of 15 cents since the beginning of the anthracite strike. While these figures by Mr. Hunter are beyond question, it is a well-known fact that there is infinitely less poverty of the real griping kind in New York than is generally believed. Charitable people can tell from experience that when one tries to find the real needy families in the tenement districts of New York he has to hunt for them. Happily, they are very few and far between.

Reds Again Become Frothy.

Anarchists are getting bold again in this city. A lot of "reds" held a meeting in Broome street, near the Bowery, last night. They expressed sympathy for Johann Most, who is serving a sentence in prison for publishing seditious articles in his newspaper, and praised the assassin of President McKinley. Perhaps it was as well for the 1,200 people at the meeting that the police did not know the character of the proceedings at the time. The average New York policeman hates the memory of the fellow that killed the late president enough to make him use his club on the head of anyone that excused Czolgosz.

Men Who Would Sell Their Shirts.

As the time approaches for the "calling in" of straw hats, the price of those articles sinks lower and lower on the bargain counters. It is the same with negligee shirts and all kinds of essentially summer garments. Some of the articles may come out fresh next year, but there are merchants here who will not take chances on this, and they are offering their hats and shirts at what they call killing prices. One peculiar result of the cool summer may be that the styles next year in New York will be identical with those that have prevailed this summer, so that the trade may get rid of its left-over stock.

Strike Just for a Change.

Strikes among girls in the factory districts of New York are so common that they provoke little comment. There is a general impression that the young woman go on strike when they are tired of their hum-drum life and crave a little excitement. The strikers today were the shirt waist girls. They are employed by a Broadway firm and they want a raise of wages. Meanwhile they have ceased work, and this morning there were a hundred or two of nice looking girls walking up and down near the factory, acting as "pickets," to keep others from taking their places. The "picket" business is the part of a strike that New York girls seem particularly to enjoy, and one maiden today was acting as colonel of the regiment of "pickets," and marched them up and down with all the dignity of a military officer. It is believed the trouble will be over tomorrow, on the basis of mutual concessions.

Gates in Real Stock Battle.

There was a hullabaloo in the New York stock exchange at the opening this morning. It was all about Colorado Fuel. The Gates and Osgood crowds met on the floor ready for strife, and they came together in the shock of battle as soon as the gong sounded for the opening of business. There were 19,900 shares thrown upon the market by the Osgood brokers in the first half hour, and there was such a howling and gesticulating as had not been seen on change for months. The racket was kept up with more or less violence all day.

And Purroy Still Lives.

Edward F. Croker, nephew of Richard, who has been suspended from his position as chief of the New York fire department, will try, by legitimate means, to make Fire Commissioner Sturgis reinstate him. Mr. Croker also distinguished himself today by glaring for a full minute at Mr. Purroy, who used to be his assistant, but who has been declared by the fire comissioner to be chief, vice Croker, suspended. The glaring took place in the trial room at headquarters, and it was thought there might be a personal encounter, notwithstanding the sacred character of the apartment. This Mr. Crocker has something of the fierce temper of his illustrious uncle, now of Wantage, England, and Purroy watched him very closely during the minute's survey which seemed to mean so much. Like Pittsburgh and every other live city, Greater New York has its own municipal squabbles of greater or less import.

Regular as Spring Hurdy-Gurdy.

One of the reminders of the coming of the gay season of fall and winter in New York is to be noticed in the advertising columns of the newspapers. Theater advertisements are nearly twice as numerous as they were two weeks ago, and there are three times the number there were at this date in July. Three or four openings a week will be the rule now for the next few weeks. The Grand opera house will open tomorrow night with Rice's musical comedy, "The Show Girl." Charles Frohman announces "The New Clown" at the Garrick for Monday, and George W. Lederer says positively that he will give us "Sally in Our Alley" at the Knickerbocker next Thursday. And there are others coming along.

What Is the Band Without Duss?

John S. Duss is in Pittsburgh tonight. His band is performing at St. Nicholas garden, however, with Antonio Bellucci conducting. Mr. Duss intends to be back in New York in time for the Sunday night concert.

Kate Claxton's Mother Ill.

News has reached Broadway that Mrs. Margaret Cone, mother of Kate Claxton of "The Two Orphans" fame, is dangerously ill at her home in Larchmont. Mrs. Cone suffered a slight stroke of paralysis a few days ago, which caused her to fall down the flight of stairs, resulting in concussion of the brain. She is 82 years of age, and her physicians fear the worst. Her daughter, Miss Margaret Cone, and her grandson, Harold Stevenson, son of Kate Claxton (who in private life is Mrs. Charles Stevenson), have been called to Mrs. Cone's bedside. Miss Cone is on the Atlantic on her way from Europe.

Capt. Brown Is Mistaken.

Capt. Samuel S. Brown, who dropped into the city from Saratoga today, said, in reference to the report that bituminous coal is being shipped to New York in large quantities, that, so far as he was concerned, he did not believe it was true. It is a fact, however, that soft coal from the Pittsburgh district is coming to this city by the thousands of tons and is used on all the railroads centering here, as well as on most of the river craft.

Vagrant Queen in Toils.

The "Queen of the Vagrants" appeared in a police court today. She is a sweet faced, motherly woman of 50, dressed in mourning, and she looked deprecatingly at the policeman who arrested her this afternoon in the Wall street district. She had a marked $1 bill in her possession which she had just received from an official of a banking firm in response to a request for charity. The arrest was prearranged, the woman having been long under surveillance. She was held in $500 bail. Numerous letters, subscription lists and railroad passes, which were found on the prisoner, indicate, the officers declared to the court, that she is a most skilful and successful solicitor of alms, and also that she has profited by the generosity of prominent persons all over the country. They say that within two years she has collected between $25,000 and $50,000.

DON JAIME WOULD NOT FIGHT DUEL

Challenged by a Hungarian Lawyer the Pretender Apologized.

By the MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Don Jaime, only son of the Spanish pretender, Don Carlos, and the prince upon whom all the hopes of the legitimist party in Spain are centered, has just been involved in a rather disagreeable affair which resulted in his being challenged to fight a duel by a Hungarian lawyer of the name of Wahrmann, one of the principal members of the bar at Budapest.

The challenge was issued by the lawyer, and resulted in an apology on the part of the prince, which all of his friends and political adherents have been busy since endeavoring to explain. According to some he yielded in the matter to the entreaties of his political adherents, who dispatched the Carlist Count Comma in hot haste to Budapest in order to point out to the prince that he had no right to endanger the future of the legitimist cause of Spain, for which they and their fathers had made so many sacrifices of treasure and blood, by fighting a duel with a man of not even noble rank, over a quarrel arising from a drunken brawl at the card table. According to others, Don Jaime deferred in the affair to the solicitations of his father's younger brother, the infant Don Alfonso, who has assumed the leadership of the Anti-Dueling league, which has been founded under the auspices of the Roman Catholic church, and in particular of the pope. Others again give a still less friendly explanation of the affair.

Whatever the reason, the fact remains that the prince did not fight, and while in any other instance this might have passed unheeded, there is no doubt that it has done serious harm to the reputation of Don Jaime.

After Liberal Potations.

The dispute which led to the issue of the challenge to mortal combat arose during the course of a game of cards after a particularly jovial supper given by Count Felix Harnoncourt, at his country seat at which Don Jaime and the lawyer Wahrmann were among the guests. All had supped, not wisely, but too well, and when during the course of the game the lawyers in fun reproved one of the other players for some foolish playing, by telling him that he acted like a fool, the man to whom it was addressed took the remark seriously and declared he would play no longer, and would send his seconds on the following day to demand satisfaction for the insult to which he had been subjected.

Don Jaime instead of trying to smooth over matters made them much worse by exclaiming it was impossible, in his opinion, for anyone to fight a duel with Wahrmann, even if it were true that the latter was a Jew, and as such incapable of meeting anyone on the so-called "field of honor."

To this Wahrmann indignantly replied he had not a drop of Jewish blood in his veins, and apostrophized the prince in such a manner that the latter's host, Count Harnoncourt felt himself compelled to interfere and call the lawyer to order, whereupon the latter likewise challenged the count. The count fought a duel with the lawyer with pistols, and an encounter likewise took place between the lawyer and the other member of the party whom he had called a fool. But the prince apologized and did not fight.

More Discretion Than Valor.

There is no doubt this attitude of the young infant will be turned to the utmost account by the Spanish government and its adherents, with the object of diminishing his popularity in Spain, and thereby damaging the cause he represents, and the fact that he has declined to fight a duel will be counted against him by a people so punctilious as the Spaniards on the score of honor, and so ready to defend the latter with knife, pistol or sword.

It is a singular fact that every one of the pretenders at the present moment, with the solitary exception of the claimant to the throne of Naples, enjoys the reputation of being imbued with more discretion than valor—a condition of affairs which tends to diminish any danger they might otherwise constitute to existing governments.

Especially is this the case with the duke of Orleans, who is bitterly denounced by many of the more active royalists in France for his cowardice owing to his refusal to show himself on French soil whenever his appearance on the scene might have crowned with success a monarchical coup d'etat, and resulted in the overthrow of the republic and the re-establishment of the throne in France. At each moment of great crisis he has been got within an hour's distance of the French frontier. But neither the entreaties of his followers, nor even the encouragement of his wife has ever induced him to cross the Rubicon and risk imprisonment for the sake of his cause.

Prince Victor Napoleon, the head of the Bonapartist party in France, is charged with similar discretion, and is, moreover, reputed to be afraid of riding on horseback owing to his frequent misadventures while out riding. The personal courage of Don Carlos himself has never been his strong point, as those who took part in the last Carlist insurrection will be ready to testify. Indeed, every single pretender now living, with the exception of the count of Caserta, claimant to the throne of Naples, who distinguished himself by his bravery in the last Carlist insurrection, displays a pronounced reluctance to risk life, fortune or liberty for the sake of his cause.

Decorated by Russia.

Don Jaime is a small man, of very unimposing appearance, who, while officer of Russian cavalry at Warsaw, acquired for himself a more or less deserved reputation for drunkenness. He served with the Russian forces out in China and took part in the assault on Mukden, the capital of Manchuria, sustaining a slight wound, and being decorated with the Order of St. George.

But it is doubtful whether this was accorded to him for any act of exceptional bravery, or merely because he happened to be the sole prince of the blood serving with the allied forces in the far east.

Whatever doubts may have existed about the matter will now be determined in a manner unfavorable to the infant, owing to his refusal to fight the duel with Wahrmann.

It has always excited a good deal of remark that while the czar and the imperial family of Russia treat Prince Louis Napoleon, who is also in the Muscovite army, as one of themselves, as a member of the imperial circle and as a dear and dear kinsman, they have invariably held themselves aloof from Don Jaime, whose royalty is of a much more illustrious character than that of "Gen. Bonaparte." Don Jaime has recently left the service of Russia, and lives for the most part in Austria.

Sure of the Date.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Judge Pennypacker, in a public address, once predicted a certain popular movement as sure to occur within a given time. A friend asked the judge if it were not rash to make a positive statement regarding a specific date for any occurrence, arguing that nothing is certain. In reply the judge told of a Celtic cook who asked her mistress one Monday for leave of absence the following Sunday to attend her brother's funeral.

"Why," exclaimed the mistress, "this is only Monday! Surely, nobody's going to keep a dead body a whole week!"

"He's not dead yet, mum," explained the cook.

"No? Well, he may die today or he may live a month. No doctor can safely say that a person will die at such a time that a day be set for the funeral."

"The doctor's nothing to do wid it, mum," was the further explanation. "O'm sure Sunday'll be all roight; fr he's sintinced to be hung Friday."

THE DEATH ROLL.

Mrs. Eliza Nixon.

Mrs. Eliza Nixon, aged 88, died yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Margaret Nixon, in Sewickley. Mrs. Nixon, despite her age, had been exceptionally strong, but her health gave out very rapidly the last two weeks, and old age was the cause of her death. She was born in County Down, Ireland. She lived for 50 years in America, the greater part of the time in Salineville, O. She came to Sewickley two years ago. Mrs. Nixon was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. The following children survive her: Margaret Nixon, Sewickley, with whom she had been living; Mrs. Grace Deveny, Cleveland; Mrs. Mary Collins, Elyria, O.; William Nixon, Atlanta, Ga., and John Nixon of Yorkville, O.

Mrs. Minnie C. Emmert Buried.

Mrs. Minnie Challis Emmert has been laid to rest after a life spent in performing deeds of devotion for her relatives and many friends. The funeral services were held at the home of her brother, Daniel Challis, on Wednesday and were attended by a large number of relatives and friends. Mrs. Emmert, who was born on January 20, 1865, was the wife of William H. Emmert, to whom she was married in 1888. Her death was unexpected and occurred on Monday at the New Brighton hospital after an operation had been performed for cancer. She was a gentle and unassuming Christian woman, and for years an active worker in the Methodist Episcopal church.

Funeral of James Bassett.

The funeral services over the remains of James Bassett, who died on Tuesday morning, were held yesterday afternoon at his late home, Simon and Linden avenues, East End. The Rev. David L. Littell, D. D., pastor of the second United Presbyterian church, officiated. The funeral was attended by the members of the Union Veteran Legion and Hampton battery, of which organizations he was a member.

PERSONALS.

Edward Scofield, who was governor of Wisconsin from 1896 to 1900, spent an hour or two at Union station last evening. He came to this city from Clearfield, where he had been visiting his brothers, James Scofield of that town and F. R. Scofield of DuBois. All are natives of Pennsylvania. The ex-governor of Wisconsin left this state a short time after the war to engage in the lumber business in Wisconsin. He has prospered greatly and is one of the most prominent of his adopted state's public men still although he does not at present hold an official position. His home is at Oconto. In politics he is, of course, a Republican.

Concerning the split in the Republican party in the state he talked interestingly last evening. "It is certain, that our state is for Senator John C. Spooner, just as the whole country is for him," he said. "The fact that Governor LaFollette managed to renominate himself for governor does not mean that Senator Spooner's influence is gone. The legislative candidates are all chosen on platforms pledged to Senator Spooner, and if the people of the state wish him to return to the United States senate, and he is willing to accept, the votes will be ready."

Mr. Scofield is enthusiastic over the chances for cattle-grazing on a large scale in the Alleghany mountains. "There are hundreds of thousands of ares of land available for this purpose," he said. "It is situated conveniently to the markets and is magnificently watered. There is no reason for it failing to become one of the great cattle regions."

Joseph Ramsey, Jr., president of the Wabash railroad, left last evening for St. Louis headquarters over the Panhandle. At the Union station he met Ralph Peters, general superintendent of the southwest system of the Pennsylvania lines, and an old friend of Mr. Ramsey's. By invitation of Mr. Peters, Mr. Ramsey shared the former's private car as far as Columbus, O., Mr. Peters' headquarters.

Attorney-General P. C. Knox, who has been fishing for several days, returned to the city yesterday and went to Washington last night. He was silent on the probability of his appointment to the United States supreme court bench as the successor of Justice Shiras.

A party of Parkersburg, W. Va., automobilists registered at Newell's last evening, on their return from an extended trip on two machines among the northern lakes. In the party are F. E. Mallory, S. T. Mallory and wife, J. F. Mallory and wife and E. W. Mallory. They leave for Parkersburg today.

John McNeil, secretary of the International Union of Boilermakers and Shipbuilders, is in Pittsburgh to look after some matters affecting the local lodges.

LARKIN ANSWERS RECORDER BROWN

ADDITIONAL FIGURES ON CITY FINANCE ARE FURNISHED.

Matter of Uncollected Taxes and Interest Due from Banks Is Explained—No Authority Known to Controller Allows Councils to Borrow Money.

Controller Larkin yesterday replied to the communication addressed to him by Recorder Brown on the previous day. The controller makes clear several points which the recorder seemed to think ambiguous and also furnishes the additional information asked by the recorder, or at least such part of it as lies within his province. The letter was as follows:

Pittsburgh, Aug. 22, 1902.

Hon. J. O. Brown, City Recorder:

Sir—Replying to yours of yesterday, asking for further information, I beg to say you are entitled to any information this office can furnish, and I herewith inclose data requested, with such explanations as will give reasons for any omissions, or for what may seem ambiguous, in my statement of August 20. The reference to the arbitrary 0ro rata disposition of what seemed to be available cash need not be discussed, for, as stated, was used but to illustrate the condition of the various appropriations, provided all were drawn on in proportion, and, to be clear as I could make myself, I stated at top of column that the cash estimated to meet apparent balances in appropriations equaled about 52 per cent of their amount.

Controller Gives Statement.

You will find in detailed statement inclosed estimated receipts, item by item, and the amount collected from each particular item, up to July 11, as well as the amount of revenue estimated when the appropriation ordinance was made up; also the apparent difference remaining uncollected after the collections of first six months of the year. The estimated revenue to end of year, $1,087,160 62, as stated, is also shown.

In making up this estimate I have been governed by the best judgment I have, and Phelps, whose long service in this office and whose integrity of purpose is an assurance that the figures may be relied on, though differing materially from estimated appropriations presented to councils.

It is always best to treat these matters conservatively, and to figure on revenue that is most probable, rather than on what may accrue.

Matter of Uncollected Taxes.

In that manner uncollected taxes amounting to $946,815 was treated as follows:

Collectible by city treasurer	$225,000
Amount delinquent	721,815

As water rents not paid at this time, passed to the collector of delinquent taxes, the apparent balance of $147,419 is eliminated.

The tax on vehicles has been about all collected and the same is true of liquor licenses, as well as license on street cars. The differing estimates from recorder, markets and gauger amount to very little, either of them may be right.

There is, however, a wide difference in estimates on money from the city attorney's office. Twenty thousand nine hundred dollars has been credited to that account on our ledger, leaving, according to ordinance estimate, $329,100 to be collected in the next six months, against $114,400 collected in the last six months of 1901.

That office may collect all that is claimed for it, or it may collect practically nothing, owing to non-adjustment of differences in the courts, which this month, for improvements, is tied up. It is very unsure to predict what the collections from that source will be, and the reasonable way is not to count it, until assured that we cannot control are adjusted.

The item of cash from bank balances yielded $69,747 in the past six months, and are estimated for the next six at $25,000.

It is understood from statements made by the recorder recently that contracts have been made and are being made, that will require the employment of most of the money from which this interest comes, and there may be a trifle more than the amount named above, and it may be less.

The only other difference in estimates was in the miscellaneous receipts; $70,692 has been collected and it is thought that $84,069 62 is all that can reasonably be expected during the remainder of the year. These computations were made to be within the limits, rather than to build upon uncertainties. If more revenue is realized than has been credited to its sources, the surprise will be an agreeable one, and the money gladly welcomed.

Knows of No Authority.

Your request for an opinion on the power of councils to authorize a temporary loan finds me unable to answer you. I know of no authority to borrow money without the consent of the people. True, in our talk on the 20th, we did go over the situation, but I did not, assume to advise you, as I have nothing whatever to do with the administration of the departments and my judgment about what should be done might make matters worse.

I do not recommend, and have not, except that steps should be taken to make the revenues meet the requirements, and thus bridge, or well-nigh bridge, the apparent deficiency.

The contracts to which you refer originated in the departments, and are on their books; the unpaid balances were given in my report to you. To go over them in detail is a matter that we cannot well attend to at this time, and is made more difficult by the fact that they are constantly changing in volume and amount.

The departments have sent down a large number since July 31, the date when estimates used in my report were made up, and many of them have been lessened in amounts since, through payment of partial estimates.

I believe I have covered the ground, have tried to, at least, and am, very respectfully yours,

JOHN B. LARKIN, City Controller.

CHAUTAUQUA.

Frank Chapin Pray Talks of the School for Out-of-School People.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Frank Chapin Pray, editor of the Chautauquan, gave an address today on the mission and object of the Chautauqua reading circle. After a brief account of what has been done by the institution and outlining the work for another year, he said, in part:

"Concentration is the creed of the Chautauqua circle. It is sought to provide means of intensive study of certain periods or phases in recurrent cycle topics. We are flooded with publications of every kind, clamoring for our attention and selection with a purpose of systematizing our reading, to save us, if anything will save us, from superficiality. There are those people, unstable, unreliable, stuffed sick with so-called information. Either they are willing to take their thinking ready-made or must keep up with the very latest period of the publishing world. The impossibility of keeping up is apparent when one recalls the fact that a printer has estimated that if the pages of books from one publishing house alone were made into a strip, such a ribbon would be 75,000 miles in length; would circle the earth three times, and have some to spare.

"We like to call the C. L. S. C. a school for out-of-school people. Such it has been for 24 years. It comes in between the grammar school and the college to serve the multitude. The Chautauqua circle stands fundamentally for a reasonable amount of concentration of attention upon things worth while."

Leon Vincent of Philadelphia gave the closing lecture in his course on literary characters, the subjects today being Lord Chesterfield and Horace Walpole. J. DeWitt Miller entertained a large audience this afternoon by speaking on "the mission of ugliness."

IDAHO MINERS WANT THEIR MAIL

CAPT. BRICE WRITES HIS OLD COMMANDER, THE PRESIDENT.

Son of Late Ohio Senator Makes Great Hit With the Diggers for Gold—Is the Most Popular Man Now on Thunder Mountain.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOISE, IDAHO, Aug. 23.—Capt. Stewart M. Brice, son of Calvin S. Brice, is a gold seeker in the Thunder mountain district. The men at the camp at Roosevelt held a meeting to protest against the delaying of their mail, and they induced Capt. Brice to write the following letter to the president:

My Dear Commander—Here in Idaho, 300 miles from civilization, I fondly dream of the nights you and I lay beside our guns on San Juan hill. There is no shooting going on here, but the material for 1,000 Rough Riders is surrounding me at this midnight hour, as I sit by the candlelight to pen you these lines.

I am one of 1,000 who have failed to receive a letter for several moons. Would a suggestion through the postmaster general's department facilitate that mail now slumbering between Boise and these diggings? Brice and 1,000 others send greetings and hope.

Young Brice is the Beau Brummel of the gold fields, and there is none in all the diggings whose popularity is greater. He arrived in Boise about the middle of June and made a host of friends by his liberality and good fellowship.

Having heard of Thunder mountain and being of an adventurous disposition, Brice soon made up his mind to invade the new gold camp, and, accordingly, an outfit for the purpose was gathered together which surpassed anything that has ever gone out of Boise. The finest horses were procured and the party was accompanied by a cook and a packer, with six horses completely loaded, besides the saddle horses.

Brice made his appearance in the camp about 60 days ago. He pitched his tent in the suburbs of the town of Roosevelt. The first day in camp he unfurled a beautiful American flag above his headquarters, and since that time the stars and stripes have never ceased to wave in Thunder mountain.

Brice is the type of easterner that the western man likes to meet. Ever since his arrival in camp he has been identified with its development. Each day he may be seen, with dinner pail in hand, climbing over the hills to his claims with his miners, and none work harder than he. His hands are calloused from swinging the drill, and he seems to enjoy the work.

Some of his eastern friends in camp recently took him to task about overworking himself. They suggested deer hunts and other amusements, but Brice refused to join in and they are now leaving him alone. He told them that the life he is now leading skinned the old days in New York, when May Yohe and other stage celebrities were his associates.

If a miner is sick in any part of the camp he mounts a horse at any hour and is off for his cabin. He has a well-stocked medicine chest with him and more than one trail-blazer owes his life to Brice's nursing and care.

SURPRISED RELATIVES.

Herbert Hershberger and Bessie Carter Went to Picnic Two and Came Back One.

The joyous strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" did not roll out from a church organ for this couple. The bride was not attired in snowy white, and the groom wore neither frock coat nor dress suit. The ushers, best man and bridesmaids were conspicuous by their absence. It was the runaway marriage of pretty Bessie Carter, daughter of Capt. Samuel Carter, the well-known riverman of Duquesne Heights, and Herbert Hershberger, son of a West End liveryman.

The young couple went to a picnic last Saturday at Chester, W. Va. They had decided that life without each other was unbearable, and crossed the river to East Liverpool, where the groom secured the necessary license, and they were married in the little parsonage just around the corner.

In the evening they returned to their homes and the buoyant groom announced the marriage to his father. The parent looked at his son for a moment and after recovering from the shock said: "Bring her home, my boy; I guess we can take care of her."

It had been intended to keep the matter a secret until the return of Capt. Carter, who is on his boat returning from New Orleans, but the news was too good, and the young couple are now receiving congratulations.

Both confessed that the elopement was long-planned, as they thought their parents would consider them too young for such an important step. They have not yet planned where their home will be, and the Hershberger home will be headquarters until the groom can make a home for his bride.

Gas Burns Thirty Years.

According to experts there is enough natural gas in the Philadelphia Company's wells to last Greater Pittsburgh 30 years. Now is the time for non-consumers to make a free contract. To all who apply this month the company will make connections and set meter free of charge. Gas is cheaper, cleaner, safer and better than coal, which will be dear this winter because of the miners' strike. Ask at 610 Wood street.

DON'T GET IN A SWEAT

Perspiration—"sweat" is what the Bible and we common people call it—is a way nature has of driving out of the body refuse that has no business there. We sweat more in summer, because, in the overheated bowels, undigested food ferments more quickly than in winter and produces irritating acids and gases. The bowels, overworked, try to relieve themselves by violent convulsions, causing terrible gripes and colics, and diarrhoeal discharges so acid as to make you sore, and leaving the intestines weak and worn out. Nature assists body-cleaning by sending the filth out through the pores of the skin. It is not safe to stop perspiring altogether but most of the impure matter should be sent out by natural movements of the bowels, and the offensive, ill-smelling, linen-staining sweat done away with. Keep your bowels strong all summer with the pleasant, candy cathartic CASCARETS, that clean the system and don't allow the excrement to be sweated out through the pores. Take a tablet every night, before going to bed. They work while you sleep and make you feel fine and cool all day.

The champions went their Thursday's record one better yesterday when they took two games from their nearest rival, Brooklyn, the first by a score of 14 to 2 and the second by 7 to 1. It was a fine afternoon's sport for 4,070 spectators, who cheered Clarke's crew to their heart's content. The boys responded by playing the game to its limit and making the exchampions look like a lot of amateurs.

The champions were in a slugging mood, and the manner in which they punched the ball about the field was a pleasing sight for the spectators. The boss slugger of the afternoon was the smallest man on the team, Tommy Leach, who smashed out two singles, a three-bagger and a home run in the first game, and a single and a three-bagger in the second. The beauty of Tommy's hits was that they came when runners were on the bases and thus produced runs. This most welcome hit was made in the seventh inning of the second game, when all the bases were occupied. He drove the ball down against the left field bleachers and brought home the three runs.

Little Tommy Was Very Busy.

The hitting line was only one of Leach's accomplishments, for he had a few others. For instance, in the first game he scored three runs and had two clever assists, and in the second he had three fielding chances which were neatly accepted. It will be thus seen that little Tommy had a very busy afternoon of it, and there were others, notably Conroy, who had two singles and a three-bagger in the first contest and a timely single in the second. Beaumont also contributed his fair share in the way of hits, runs and stolen bases.

When the Pirates were marshaled in line for duty it was found there was a new face among them. The new man was Fred Crollus, the Dartmouth college boy who was with Boston the season, and who played full back on the all-star Homestead eleven last season. Fred is located in this city and on learning of the Pirates' plight he offered his services and they were gladly accepted. He was placed in right field, but there was not enough for him, to do so as to get a fair estimate of his playing ability.

Ritchey Hurt in a Collision.

The only chance the new man had in the first game resulted in an unfortunate run in with Ritchey and the second baseman was rendered unconscious for a short time and wrenched his leg so severely that he was forced to retire at the end of the first contest. Burke taking his place in the second game. At bat Crolius showed up in good form; he got one three-bagger in the first game and sensational stops by Flood and Wheeler robbed him of hits in the second.

Doheny pitched the first contest for the champions, and he pitched it well. The game proved to be a walkover for the local team, and the result was a satisfactory one to all hands, because the Pirates got good and even with an old hoodoo of theirs. This hoodoo was Pitcher Frank Kitson, who has proved a stumbling block to the champions on many occasions, but they evened up for all old scores, and then some. It was a case of biff, biff, and away you go, with a merry go round on the bases.

Kitson got along in fine shape for two innings, when only one hit was secured off him and he was in a happy frame of mind. In the third there came a change when six hits, which included two three-baggers and two doubles, together with two bases on balls, brought the champions a bunch of seven runs. They added two in the fourth on two singles and a double, and five more in the eighth on three singles, one hit by pitcher and Leach's home run.

Chesbro Had Them Guessing.

The second game brought Happy Jack Chesbro out on the firing line, and Happy was in his very best humor, as well as pitching form. During his nineteening experience he allowed the exchampions but four hits, and one of which was clean cut, the other three being easy infield taps which could not be handled in time to catch the runners. Evans pitched the second game for the visitors, and was a puzzle for five innings, but in the sixth his curves were straightened out in fine shape. In this inning two very wild throws by Wheeler and three hits produced four runs, and in the next inning another wild throw by Wheeler, a base on balls and a single filled the corners and Tommy Leach swept them clean with his three-bagger. The scores:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

When Fred Crollus appeared at bat for the first time in the second inning he was heartily applauded by the spectators. He tried hard for a hit, but the best he could do was to force Ritchey at third. He only had one fielding chance and that was in the second game, when he gathered in Wheeler's fly in fine style.

The exhibition of ground and lofty throwing put up by Third Baseman Wheeler was something fearful to look at. He shot the ball in all directions, and if Donovan, who was playing first, doesn't need a pair of crutches today it will be a wonder. Wheeler is a neat, clever fielder, but his throwing arm is entirely too strong.

Arthur Irwin made his first appearance here as an umpire and his work was not what would be called first-class. He called Doheny out at first in the fifth inning of the first game when that player was a step ahead of the ball. His judgment on balls and strikes was also faulty and both teams kept kicking all through both contests.

There were a number of clever plays made in both games, and among the best were catches made by Flood which robbed Clarke and Crollus of hits. Both swipes were vicious ones and the ball looked safe, but Flood managed to get them, making one-hand catches. That boy is a second baseman sure enough, his work yesterday being very high-class.

There was one Brooklyn scene in the left field bleachers who caused a whole lot of fun. This particular rooter had a large-sized jag with him and he seemed rather proud of it, holding it from the moment he got in which he himself around. He called every Brooklyn player Roy and he coached with the energy of a paid employee and created a lot of amusement for the spectators.

Perhaps that coach boy was the Johnny on the spot with that bat of his yesterday. He got six hits for a total of 13 bases in the two contests, and there was not one of the hits that was not as clean-cut as a freshly-mowed lawn. His home run was a vicious one, the ball banging up against the left field bleachers with a hard bump. Tommy came pretty close to being the whole thing yesterday.

That chunk of ice, Chief Zimmer actually stole two bases yesterday, one in the first and one in the second contest. The spectators passed the first one up, they being too dumbfounded to make any demonstration, but when the Chief purloined the second time and got there by a long head-first slide, the crowd woke up and cheered the old man wildly. The Chief is getting giddy in his old days.

Beaumont's work in the second game was his third misplay of the season, and it was a hard luck error at that. There were two Brooklyn runners on base when Wheeler drove out a line fly, which Beaumont got. Flood was on third and started for home, and Leach, thinking a play was to be made at the plate, went to back up the play, but instead of throwing home Beaumont shot the ball to third, and as there was no one at that base the ball went to the stand.

Another patient has been added to the Pirate hospital list. The latest victim is Catcher Harry Smith, who got a vicious smash on the foot in Thursday's game, and is so lame he can hardly walk. This leaves the champions with only Zimmer to depend on back of the bat, and the Chief is a willing worker. Still, a crushing slump is going to hit him unless Smith would be in a bad way. President Dreyfuss will see to it at once that the catching department is filled up.

The run-in between Ritchey and Crollus in the first game was an unfortunate affair. It happened in the fourth inning, when Sheckard sent up a high fly which both players were after. Manager Clarke called for Ritchey to take the ball, but Crollus did not hear the call and kept going. Ritchey dropped on the ground and was unconscious for a few minutes. His leg was hurt, but he pluckily finished the game. His place in the second game was taken by Burke.

FOUGHT ON THE GREEN.

Lawrence Lutz Knocked Out Edward Bunting.

WELLSVILLE, O., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Lawrence Lutz of Beaver Falls knocked out Ed Bunting of this city in the third round of what was scheduled to be a 20-round go. The fight was pulled off in what is known as the Grant district in Chester township, Hancock county, West Virginia. There was no interference on the part of the authorities. The ring was staked out in a big field and about 800 sports from Wellsville, Chester and East Liverpool were at the ringside. In the first two pounds Bunting had the better of the go. In the second round Lutz was down about five seconds. In the third Bunting rushed matters. He was knocked down three times, the last time he took the count. Bunting had never fought in the ring before. He has been considered a tough proposition in a rough and tumble battle. Jack Foley of Youngstown was referee. Bunting was seconded by John Harrington, James Doyle and Joe Masterson, all of Pittsburgh. They trained Bunting at the Southside Athletic club. Considerable money changed hands, Wellsville bet heavily on Bunting. The fight began at 2:25 o'clock and lasted 12 minutes.

KRAMER IS STILL WINNING RACES

FINISHED FIRST IN MEET AT ASBURY PARK.

Arthur Zimmerman on the Wheel Again. Bad Spill in One Race and Two Riders, King and Eddie Bald, Were Seriously Injured.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 22.—The features of today's National circuit meet of the N. C. A. was the presence of the old-time champion, Arthur A. Zimmerman, and the absence of Major Taylor, the sickness of whose wife, it is said, prevented his attendance. Zimmerman rode an exhibition mile, motor paced, in 1:49. About 1,500 people watched the races.

The one-half mile professional National circuit championship took the lion's share of the popular interest. Frank Kramer, the national champion, carried off first honors in this event after a hard sprint down the stretch. In the two-thirds mile race a bunch of riders fell when turning into the home stretch on the second lap. John King of Newark, N. J., had his ear nearly torn off and was taken, unconscious, to the grand stand, where he recovered. Eddie Bald was also hurt, but not so seriously. Floyd Krebs finished first, among the spectators who crowded the beach to see the result of the spill. Charles Hadfield finished second, but was disqualified, as it was thought the fall was due to him, and John Bedell was given second place. Lester Wilson got third money. Charges of foul were preferred against Hadfield, who, it is claimed, placed his hand upon Fenn's shoulder, to hold him back. This it is said was the cause of the fall. Summaries:

Half-mile circuit championship—First heat won by G. C. Shrieber; Orlando Stevens second. Time 42 seconds.

Second heat won by J. P. Fisher; Floyd Kreby second. Time 45 seconds.

Third heat won by W. S. Fenn; Old Kaintuck Kimble second. Time 42 2-5 seconds.

THE TENNIS EXPERTS.

L. E. Ware Defeated Dr. Pim—Fine Match Between Doherty and Stevens.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 22.—The tennis of the fourth day of the national championship at the Casino furnished the best sport in singles, so far, of the tournament and was made noteworthy by the defeat of Dr. Joshua Pim, a former champion of all England.

L. E. Ware of Boston accomplished the downfall of the British veteran and did it in straight sets. This match was, however, only one of a number of interesting contests in which M. D. Whitman and Beals Wright attracted the most attention, Whitman winning, three sets to one. In this latter event the absence of daring smashes, the fast, close work at the net made the sport rather dull to watch, and half the crowd went over to see the contest between H. L. Doherty and Richard Stevens. Here they found the excitement which they craved, for by playing his usual steady base line game, Stevens not only took a set from the Englishman, but came within a single stroke of another. With the sets one, all the games five to four and the score 40-30, Stevens missed scoring on a fine pass by a few inches, the ball going just that distance outside. Doherty then evened matters up without difficulty and although Stevens won another game the Englishman ran out the set, 8-6. The next went to him, 6 to 1, and the match was finished.

The star match tomorrow will be between E. F. Dohrty, the elder of the English pair, and W. J. Clothier of Philadelphia, who beat W. A. Larned at Longwood last month, and a lively contest is anticipated.

PITTSBURGHERS BEATEN.

ALTOONA, PA., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Several of the most important events of the annual tournament of the Altoona Cricket and Golf club were finished today. A large crowd was present and great interest was manifested. In the finals of the tennis double match, Harry M. Fay and Samuel Thomson of Altoona beat Thomas Ewing and George E. Edwards of Pittsburgh, 8-6; 3-6; 6-2; 6-2, thus retaining the Thomson bowls offered as a trophy by Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Thomson of Altoona. In the tennis consolation match second set, Imbrie beat Canby, 8-6; 7-5. Hunter beat Reed by default, and McIlvaine beat Staley, 6-0; 6-2. In the second set ping pong, Staley beat McIlvaine, 6-2; 7-5. Canby beat King by default; Ashcorn beat Matthers, 6-4; 6-4; McLanahan beat Buell, 6-3; 6-0; Findley beat Edwards by default. In the semi-finals mixed foursomes, O. H. Hewitt and Miss Hewitt beat B. H. Hewitt and Miss Myers, 5 up 3 to play; Miss Pettit and Charles Cass beat Miss Dean and Lippincott 8 up 4 to play. In the finals Miss Pettit and Cass beat the Hewitts, 6 up 4 to play.

YOUNG MAN SHOWS PROFESSOR HOW

NEW SWIMMING RECORD MADE IN ATLANTIC CITY.

Yachting Regatta Proves Success Despite Bad Wind—Pennsylvania Y. M. I. in Session—Young Woman Catches Hotel Sneak Thief.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 22.—Walter Jarman, son of Thomas Jarman of this city, established a new swimming record today by covering the distance from Young's pier to the bell buoy and return, about four and a half miles, in fifty minutes. The feat was accomplished with ease by the young man, who has won several prizes for aquatic prowess. When Prof. W. B. Jennison, the well-known swimming instructor, started out on an exhibition swim from the pier this morning, young Jarman started with him. Jarman soon proved that the professor was not in his class, by leaving him far in the rear. Jarman swam around the buoy and without stopping returned to the shore. Jennison swam to the buoy and remained on it for several minutes and then began the return trip. He had not gone far until he was picked up by a row boat which accompanied him. Upon his return to the pier Jennison explained that he had been taken with a chill and was unable to complete the swim. Jarman was tendered an ovation by the crowd on the pier which he passed on his way to the shore.

Yacht Regatta a Success.

The yachting regatta today was a success in spite of fickle winds. Never before did so many boats assemble off this coast to compete for prizes, consisting of cups and flags. Owing to the lightness of the wind the program was changed and the classes were sent off first instead of the sail boats, and it was after 12 o'clock before the latter could take the course. In the launch class the Daimler of the Beach Haven Yacht club and the Ella won cups, and the Imp and Matilda captured pennants. The Olga and the Helen were awarded cups in the race about class; the Viking was the winner in the sloop class and the Karl won the cup in the schooner class.

Y. M. I. in Session.

The biennial convention of the Pennsylvania Jurisdiction of the Young Men's Institute was opened here today. Preliminary to the convention there was mass at St. Nicholas church, the Rev. Thomas F. Walsh of Pittsburgh being celebrant. An address of welcome was made by the pastor of the church. At 11 a. m. the business session began in Odd Fellows' hall and the balance of the day was spent in organization and the reading of the reports, which were referred to appropriate committees. About 100 delegates are present, including the following Pittsburghers: T. F. J. Keating, M. H. Murphy, B. J. Cawley, grand directors; D. J. Cullinan, supreme treasurer; B. H. McGuire, grand secretary; the Rev. Thomas F. Walsh, grand chaplain; P. A. Kilgallon, R. A. McCall, Timothy Dunn, Jr., Joseph Modispacher, J. J. Cooney, James P. Wall, John J. Criste, Jarnett Larimer, Frank J. Daly, John C. Woods, J. E. Bronder, T. J. McGiverin, A. M. Letzelius, P. J. Carroll, E. B. Gallagher, B. J. McAleer.

Burglar Caught in Act.

There was a big commotion in an Arkansas avenue hotel this morning, resulting from the discovery of a burglar at work. Miss Clara Edgar, who is connected with the hotel, saw the man and raised an alarm, whereupon the robber attacked her. Assistance arrived before he could get away and he was held until officers arrived and took him into custody. At the police station the prisoner said his name is James Anderson. He is about 25 years old. He was committed to jail to await trial for assault and battery and attempted burglary. Investigation disclosed that Anderson had taken the keys from the rack in the hotel office and then went from room to room, throwing the plunder from windows into the yard below, where it is believed an accomplice was in waiting to assist in carrying off the booty, but ran away when he heard Miss Edgar's outcry.

NEW PROGRAM OF KEENE POOL IS ANNOUNCED

Circular Frankly Tells What It Is Proposed to Do With Southern Pacific.

GATES HAS HANDS FULL

All-Day Battle in Colorado Fuel Goes on on Floor of Exchange—Paper Losses Are Figured at Nearly $1,300,000.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 22.—Advance copies of the long-promised bullish literature on Southern Pacific were distributed today to a limited number of commission houses and to members of the pool. Talbot J. Taylor & Co., who get up and who also manage the Southern Pacific pool, frankly announce that the return of James R. Keene is to be the signal for more active bullish operations in Southern Pacific stock.

Judged by typographical and literary standards, this forthcoming Southern Pacific "circular" is perhaps the most pretentious thing that has ever been got out in Wall street from purely speculative motives. It is proposed to put it in the hands of people who will digest it carefully. One of the features of the publication is that it strongly recommends that Southern Pacific's extensive improvements be capitalized. This is precisely what is going to be done through the proposed bond issue, the announcement of which now is said to have greatly gratified the bull party.

The Keene pool in Southern Pacific is of long standing, and by all accounts it is heavily loaded with stock. Its managers assert that they are in for the long pull, and propose to appeal to a semi-investment public rather than to purely speculative sentiment.

Playing for Long End.

A number of large commission houses are persuaded that Southern Pacific will go higher, and are putting their clients long of the stock. The price that is spoken for it is 80. It made a new high price record today at 78¼. Information of a rise is well vouched for.

There probably has been evidence this past few days of professional realizing in Louisville & Nashville. Some traders suspect that the strength of Southern Railway has been designed to cover liquidation in Louisville & Nashville. As a matter of fact, however, too much importance has been attached to Louisville's reaction from the extreme high price of 139½, which was recorded on the day of Morgan's arrival. The stock certainly was entitled to a reaction. Its market position is unchanged. There is no reason to believe that there has been a hitch in the deal.

Wall street takes a great deal of delight in the Colorado Fuel & Iron situation. Harris, Gates & Co. say that they did not buy a share of stock in today's session of the market, and that its rather violent recovery from below 74 was due wholly to short covering. The Gates crowd must have taken very heavy paper losses on their stock this week, and since their holdings, by their own claim, are much heavier than those of the Osgood faction, their losses should have been accordingly larger.

Some Big Paper Losses.

A Wall street news agency estimates that John W. Gates has lost nearly $1,500,000 as the result of the break in the stock. The Gates party's stock must have averaged a price considerably higher than today's average quotation. It is interesting now to recall that a month ago the Gates party threatened to sell out in the event of its failing to get control at the annual meeting this week. There is a vague suspicion in the street that Mr. Gates and his associates have been short of the stock on this break. It is significant at least that brokers frequently employed by the Gates crowd have been sellers from time to time since the closing of the books.

The known movements of money for the week indicate a slight cash gain for the banks and the Wall street community hopes that the bank statement tomorrow will be reasonably favorable. This hope seems to be based largely upon the fact that the two preceding statements were extremely unfavorable. In order to save the appearance of things the banks, no doubt, have employed every resource at their command to make as good a showing this week as possible. The upward flow of currency probably will get under way next week, and it is not at all unlikely that the bank statement a week from tomorrow will be unfavorable.

Traders Watch Call Loans.

It is unusual for traders to look so far ahead, but they are doing it now in their efforts to calculate the probable range of call interest rates for the next 30 days. The best opinion in the street is that call money is likely to work higher, and that at intervals it will probably be bid up sharply against weak borrowers.

Fortunately most of the large commission houses are well supplied with time funds. One large commission house, for example, has provided itself with enough time money to supply 75 per cent of its maximum requirements between this date and January 2. The average rate for this time money was something between 4½, 4½ and 5 per cent. This is by no means an exceptional case.

The advance this past fortnight of Western Union from 88 across 93 has been attended with a great deal of conjectural talk of closer relations between the Western Union and Postal. Rumors of a deal between these two companies recur periodically in the Wall street community. Sometimes they have been based upon the semblance of truth, and then again they have been purely in the interest of stock market manipulation. Although there is no definite authority for saying that a deal is now on, it is recognized that some sort of an alliance between the two companies is more technically probable than ever before.

Personal Prejudice Removed.

The death of Mr. Mackay removed to a large extent the personal prejudices that hitherto have stood in the way of such a deal, and in addition to this the Postal lately has come into much stronger position as a result of its having replaced the Western Union on the Pennsylvani lines. Western Union has a very excellent dividend record as a 5 per cent stock, but somehow it has never been a speculative favorite and bull operations therein have rarely been enormously successful. The development of the company has been hampered by an ultra-conservative management, but it is said that more agressive policy is now being pursued in all the departments. A working agreement between the Postal and Western Union has existed for a number of years.

There is a demand on the part of the members of the stock exchange, who are particular about the good name of the institution before the public, that those who inspired the "strike" suit in the name of Pierpont Morgan against the Northern Securities shall be disciplined. "Strike" suits are by no means new in the stock market world. In olden times bear operators applied not for injunction, but for receivers to help along their speculations.

The morals of the street have improved since then, however, and it is earnestly desired by the more conservative members of this little world that the name of the stock exchange shall not be associated in the public mind with stock jobs. Officials of the institution will not be quoted on the subject, but it is intimated on very high authority that the matter will be discussed at the next regular meeting of the board of governors in September.

E. W. HARDEN.

Wall Street Rallied from Depression

HIGHER PRICES WERE REALIZED IN WALL STREET

COLORADO FUEL STRONGER

Its Advance of More Than a Point Was an Important Factor in Reassuring Sentiment — Independent Iron and Steel Showed Strength.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 22.—Today's stock market rallied from yesterday's depression and closed at materially higher prices than last night. There was a considerable contraction in the volume of the trading and it was not until late in the day that the disturbance to sentiment caused by yesterday's break in prices seemed entirely overcome.

This was partly due to the evidence of continued liquidation in Colorado Fuel, which it was feared was creating a necessity to unload stocks elsewhere in the market. The appearance of support in that stock, and its rally to more than a point over last night was an important factor in reassuring sentiment and its effect was emphasized by the renewed strength in Louisville & Nashville, which was supposed to be related in a speculative way to the movement in Colorado Fuel.

The points of strength in the early part of the day were somewhat scattered and might be attributed to special causes. In the late dealings the strength became more general and the market broadened out under the immediate influence of a 2-point raise in Southern Pacific. The explanation of the strength in this stock was not obvious, beyond the fact that the speculative leader who has made this stock a favorite of last year is now due to arrive from Europe.

Advance in Iron Stocks.

Ontario & Western continued its advance with a rumor that it was being sought by Canadian Pacific for a connecting link with New York city, thus supplementing recent rumors of Canadian Pacific's purpose to enter Chicago, which were subsequently denied.

The firmness of Western Union continued to excite remark and conjecture as to a possible combination of telegraph interests. When Colorado Fuel made its recovery there was a fairly general advance among the independent iron and steel companies from which the United States Steel stocks were conspicuous exceptions, the movements of the latter being restricted to narrow fractions.

The Grangers, Pacifics and Southwesterns quite generally participated in the late movement in Southern Pacific. The reaction in the wheat market may have helped this movement. Yesterday's flurry in September corn, while without any bearing on the coming crop, is significant of the very small movement of the tag-end of last year's crop, which has been reflected in late returns of gross earnings of railroads in the corn territory.

Reassuring Money Market.

The freedom from flurry in the money market with the demand for loans to carry over until Monday, had a reassuring effect and aroused hopes that the bank statement tomorrow would show a strengthened condition. If this proves to be the case, it must be by reason of loan contraction by transfer of credits to the trust companies and to foreign lenders. The interior currency movement seems still to be slightly in favor of New York.

The sub-treasury operations, which had yielded to the banks up to Wednesday evening $1,835,000, took from the banks yesterday $1,168,000, thus nearly wiping out the previous balance. The net result promises a gain in cash for the week of less than half a million dollars. Another transfer was made to New Orleans today of $130,000 and New York exchange at Chicago dropped to 20 cents discount after having recovered to par earlier in the week.

The advancing quotations for government bonds are believed to be due to the expectation that the treasury may take early steps for the relief of the money market, either by increasing deposits with the banks or by redemption of bonds. Bonds were firm in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $1,370,000. United States refunding 2s, the old 4s and the 3s advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

Talked About in Wall Street

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The Herald this (Saturday) morning says:

Nervousness at the opening of the stock market yesterday was allayed by the presence of supporting orders put in by the various syndicates whose interest it is to hold prices strong. The renewed evidence of strength of the controlling forces reassured the leaders; and after an interval of irregularity and hesitancy prices developed apparent strength and made a recovery at the close. Operations, however, lost a great deal of their snap and vigor, but the only effect of the reaction of the preceding day was shown at the close in a curtailment of business. There was no notable change in speculative sentiment. This continued bullish as heretofore, but was confined solely to the professional operators.

The news developments of the day contained very little of variety. Crop and weather advices were satisfactory, and such railway traffic earnings and reports as came to hand were favorable. The action in deferring payment on the preferred stock of the Southern Railway and the intention to continue the voting trust was not generally known during business hours, but as it is believed to be merely for the purpose of facilitating the readjustment of holdings of the L. & N. road it would doubtless have had no influence. Time money was not quotably changed.

Western Union was the leader in point of activity. The stock was well manipulated and the operations therein attracted much attention, particularly as the long stock, which came out on the advance, was speedily absorbed. This led to the report of accumulative buying, which was heightened by the use of brokers in the movement who have been at times identified with the Gould party. Friends of the party spoke confidently of the property. A point which was made in its favor was that of the economies enforced by the new management, which is credited with a ruthless cutting off of wasteful expenditures and a closer concentration of the working force all along the line. The various reports or combination with other companies, while still a feature of Wall street gossip, are not generally credited by those active in the movement.

Despite the absence of public buying, stocks continued to make high record prices. Among those attained yesterday were St. Paul, Minneapolis & Sault Ste. Marie common and preferred, Sloss-Sheffield common and preferred, Toledo, St. Louis & Western, Twin City Rapid Transit and American Express.

Has Pittsburgh Creditors.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—A petition in voluntary bankruptcy was filed today by Orlando M. Harper, a drygoods commission merchant. The liabilities are said to be $873,229, and the nominal assets $83,344. William Henry Yale was appointed receiver. Of Harper's debt $211,325 is due to Mrs. Lydia M. Harper and other members of the Harper family, including relatives in Pittsburgh.

Value of a Check Raised.

James E. Adams was committed to jail last night by Alderman J. D. Walker, on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. J. C. Harper brings the charge and alleges that Adams, who is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, gave him a check which had been so changed that he obtained $88.70 more than was due him.

To Meet in Pittsburgh.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 22.—Today's session of the National Box and Shook Manufacturers was devoted to an experience meeting in charge of F. J. Kress of Pittsburgh. That city was selected as the place for holding the next annual meeting in February, 1903.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Work is being pushed vigorously in all directions in the Mount Baker district, Wash., and new finds are reported near Shuksan. A movement has started to secure better roads and trails, which are the great needs of this rich section. Most of the machinery for the Post-Lambert has arrived and the full plant will be in working order by the middle of September.

A dispatch from Nelson, B. C. states that the American Boy has started regular shipments to the Garrett smelter. The ore runs $800 net to the car.

The Michigan-New Mexico Company has bought the 10-stamp mill of the Humboldt in the Virginia district, and will move it to its property west of Lees Peak.

Development work is kept up on the claims of the Alessandro Company in the Burros camp, N. M., but shipments will be deferred until the price of copper improves.

A sufficient supply of water having been obtained, the Aberdeen Copper Company's concentrator is running steadily and turning out first-class concentrates, which are being shipped to the smelter at El Paso.

The Free Gold shaft of the Cardiff Company at Boulder Col., is now 100 feet deep, and shows a true fissure vein eight feet between walls, with a pay streak that runs $9 gold per ton.

Eighteen inches of $200 ore has been struck in the Shamrock mine, Bull Hill, Cripple Creek. This mine is under bond and lease to a Michigan syndicate.

A two-foot body of ore, eight inches of which is solid copper, has been encountered in the Hard Cash, near Elko, Co.

The recent strike on the 500-foot level of the Grand Central at Robinson, Utah, reported Grand Central at Bingham Hill. The values are in gold, silver and copper.

Five sets of concentrates are employed in the upper workings of the New York, at Bingham, Utah, where there is a large showing of ore. The Apex suit between the United States and the Kempton in this camp is said to involve the title to many thousands of tons of lead ore that has already been proved up.

The Metal Market.

Domestic metal markets were quiet and in the case of tin and copper easy today. Tin closed 20 points on the inside price, spot at the close being quoted at $28.10@28.50. The English market suffered a break of 15s, not closing at $126 and the futures at £122. In copper there was very little doing locally and prices showed no important change. Standard spot closed at $18 5/8@11 25; Lake Superior, $11 50@11 70; electrolytic, $11 35@11 45, and casting $11 35@11 40. The foreign price was dropped 2s 6d to £51 18s 9d for spot and to £52 for futures. Dullness ruled the lead market both domestic and foreign, neither showing a change. The local price was 4.35c for spot and London quoted at £11 2s 6d. Spelter was firm, with a moderate business reported. Spot closed at $5 80. The English market was steady and unchanged at £18 17s 6d. Iron prices remained as last quoted for domestic supplies, the market having a firm undertone. Warrants were still nominal. No. 1 foundry northern, $23 00@23 00; No. 2 foundry northern, $22 00@23 00; No. 1 foundry southern, soft, $22 00@23 00. English markets were quiet. Glasgow closed at 57s 6d and Middlesboro at 58s 11½d.

Dun's Weekly Review of Trade

FUEL SCARCITY IS HANDICAPPING IRON INDUSTRY

Blast Furnace Capacity Decreasing—Foreign Pig Iron Demand.

CURRENT TRADE IS GOOD

Dun's Review Says Volume of Business Is Large and Prospects for the Future Are Bright—Liberal Buying in Leading Markets.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 22.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

Fuel scarcity is still the one serious industrial handicap. Protracted idleness at anthracite mines increased the pressure for soft coal and coke, and, despite new records of output, deliveries are utterly inadequate owing to the lack of motive power. This freight blockade of coke trains has closed many furnaces, while the increasing call for transporting facilities on crop account gives little prospect of early relief.

Notwithstanding the congestion, railway earnings thus far reported for August show gains of 3.4 per cent over last year and 17 per cent over 1900. Weather conditions have been less uniformly favorable for agricultural products, yet no severe loss is reported. Current trade is of good volume for the season, while the outlook for the future is bright. Buyers are numerous in all the leading markets, placing orders liberally at well sustained quotations.

Furnaces Short of Fuel.

As the active blast furnace capacity of this country decreases through want of fuel, foreign pig iron is purchased more freely, and Scotch warrants have advanced because of the steady demand. Domestic needs are now far beyond all precedent, and even with the available home capacity active there would be imports, although less than are now arriving. There is much that is gratifying in this state of affairs, but there is also a drawback. During the recent period for exceptional domestic demand many export orders have been sacrificed, which German and Belgian makers secured.

Textile mills are well occupied, business gradually increasing in the cotton goods division, and demands for quick delivery emphasize the fact that stocks are low and requirements for consumption are pressing. Export trade in brown cottons is insignificant, but more inquiries are reported. New lines of light weight woolens and worsteds for spring wear are now fully opened, and buyers are placing much business. Quotations are steadily maintained, with the market in healthy condition. There is some evidence that supplementary orders will command higher prices, especially if raw wool makes any further advance.

PITTSBURGH COAL FIRM

Common Stock Led the Transactions at a Fractional Advance—Brewing Common Strong—The Steel Group Passed Without a Sale.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was to all intents and purposes the dullest of the year to date. In fact, during the first hour it had more of the appearance of the proceedings four or five years ago, when, during a whole call, hardly enough business would be transacted to pay an ordinarily good broker for the trouble of visiting the exchange. This condition lasted until the beginning of the final hour, when for a few moments there was some little improvement and almost as much business was transacted as during the preceeding parts of the day. However, the close was very dull, though generally the market was steady to firm. The total sales were a little less than 2,100 shares of stock and $15,000 bonds, which were divided among 17 different securities. Of that number five advanced from ¼ to $1 per share, six declined from ⅛ to $1 per share and six were unchanged. Really, the proceedings were principally interesting because of the things which did not "proceed." It was notable that there was absolutely no trading in the steel group, while Allegheny Valley preferred, Philadelphia Company issues, Union Switch and Signal common and Marsden common, which have all recently been active favorites, passed without a sale. In the steel shares the market was generally steady without important changes of any kind. Crucible common was quoted at 22¼@22½ and the preferred at 86¼@86¾. United States Steel common was quoted at 41 bid, without offers, and the preferred offered at 90¾ with only 90 bid. There was some little inquiry for Philadelphia Company common which was quoted at 49⅝ bid and offered at 49⅞. The preferred was also quoted at 49⅝ bid, but with no offers under 50¼. Allegheny Valley railroad preferred had no bids, but offered ¼ lower at 84¼. Marsden common was bid at 4¼ and offered at 4⅝, while the preferred, which advanced to 34 bid Thursday, was not quoted at all. Pressed Steel car common was firmer and 81 higher at 51 bid, with offers at 51¾. Union Switch and Signal common was widely quoted at 9⅜ bid and 9⅝ asked. Federal National bank at 140 bid and Real Estate Trust at 285 bid were firm and unchanged. The only change of note in the banking department was an advance of $5 a share to $185 bid for City Deposit bank, the price being a new high record. In the recorded sales the chief business was in Pittsburgh Coal common, which sold 650 shares and closed firm and ¼ higher at 28⅜. The preferred was dull and unchanged at 90⅞. Pittsburgh Brewing common was the firmest issue of the day, advancing and closing ⅝ higher at 29⅜, the sales having been 450 shares. The preferred also rallied ¼ to 46¾, sales and bid. River Coal preferred was very dull and unchanged at 40¾, while the common was not dealt in, though it was firm at 12⅜ bid for 1,000 shares, regular lots offering at 12½. Manufacturers Light and Heat was traded in in small lots aggregating 80 shares, at 79, the last price. Fire Proofing issues were practically neglected though a shade easier in tone. Window Glass common was very dull and ⅜ lower at 62¼ for 111 shares. The bulls on this stock are getting somewhat more cheerful over the prospect of an early agreement with its competitors and persist in saying that it will have a big advance within the next 60 or 90 days. But, as has often been observed before, it's pretty much of a "guess." The Westinghouse stocks were very dull and practically unchanged, though a small lot of Airbrake—5 shares only—did sell at 185, a loss of ½. The only trading in the banking group was in United Realty Trust Company, which opened at 128½, a new low record, and closed somewhat firmer at 129 shares and bid the same as Thursday. Bonds were a shade more active and Brewing 6s advanced ¼ to 112½, but River Coal 6s lost ⅝ at 110¼. Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville street railway 5s opened at par, which was the highest price paid in months, and closed finally unchanged at 99¾. The remainder of the list was featureless.

Fruits and Produce.

Continued heavy rains in Delaware have caused a falling off in peach receipts and the market is firm. Tomatoes were weaker yesterday, owing to the arrival of much home grown stuff. Potatoes are also lower. Sweet potatoes are selling freely off in price. Watermelons are lower on account of heavier receipts. Indiana melons are down in price on account of the arrival of Rocky Fords. There was no change in the quotations yesterday on the latter variety, and it is thought that the product is about as low as it will be for awhile. Selected stock is bringing the top notch. Concord grapes are off several cents on the basket, receipts being heavier. The quality is also said to be somewhat better.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Coffee futures opened irregular, with prices 10 to 15 points higher on vigorous covering and general buying, led by houses with foreign connections. Advices regarding the extent of the injury to the 1903-04 crop in Brazil were generally held to confirm the earlier cables of severe damage to the trees and destruction of first flowering. The local market ruled strong all day, with the exception of a slight easing off at midday under heavy profit-taking. Demand came from all quarters. Europe, commission houses and shorts were particularly active as buyers, while the selling was mainly by local and Baltimore importing houses and realizing longs. The bull leaders both bought and sold. The day was marked by the heaviest trades in recent months, sales amounting to 197,000 bags, of which over 55,000 bags were changes of the nearer positions for late options. At the close prices were nearly at best figures of the day, net 10 to 25 points higher. The undertone was firm. Prices included August, 5.30@5.40c; September, 5.30@5.40c; October, 5.30@5.40c; November, 5.45@5.50c; December, 5.45@5.60c; January, 5.55@5.60c; March, 5.70@5.85c; May, 5.80@5.95c; June, 5.90@6.00c; July, 5.95@6.00c.

Grain Lower After Fast Trading

SAVAGE TRADING CHARACTERIZED GRAIN MARKET

Sensational Day in Chicago Pit Closed With Lower Prices.

BULLS RULED OPENING

Figures Were Boosted to Suit the Big Holders and Manipulation Made Prices Jump Back and Forth Erratically—Shorts Suffered.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Vicious and savage trading characterized the business on the board of trade today. St. Louis shorts in corn and wheat were punished severely. There was nothing particularly bullish in the early news, but yesterday's exceptional bulge in corn frightened the corn shorts and at the opening there was a wild rush to get under cover. After prices all around had been boosted to figures to suit the big holders, manipulation made prices jump back and forth erratically.

In the end the shorts suffered, the local longs secured fancy profits for their holding and prices closed weaker. September corn closed unchanged, December ⅝c lower, September wheat ⅛@¼c down, September oats 1@1⅛c off, and September provisions suffered a loss of 10c to 20c.

St. Louis shorts had sent orders for heavy covering at the opening of the corn pit. Prices would have gone easily to 60c or more had it not been that the big longs were competing with each other to unload on the unfortunate outsiders. This willingness on the part of bulls to sell at fancy figures, however, did not prevent an excited and much higher opening. September corn started ¼c to ⅜c up at 57¼c to 58c, and with wide fluctuations jumped to 59⅝c. Here big quantities came out, and before long 1,000,000 bushels or more had been turned over to the shorts.

Market Was Sensational.

This broke prices badly and as soon as it was thought the short interest had been eliminated September touched 56½c. Every bid or sale made a quick change of from ¼c to 1c in the price of September. Trading throughout the entire session was sensational. Influential houses had December for sale, but the early advances in September sustained the later month. Conditions that usually rule the pit were hardly considered.

There is still a fine prospect of big harvests, cables were higher and receipts were still small, otherwise the situation was practically unchanged. Near the close September rallied and December fell off. September closing steady and unchanged, at 57c, and December ⅛c down, at 42⅛c. Receipts were only 28 cars, six of contract grade.

Except that the weather map was almost perfect, most of the early news in wheat favored buyers. Cables were strong on the reports of frost and dry weather in Argentina. Receipts were lighter and contract grading was very small. Above all shorts were frightened, both at the advance in wheat and the tumult in the corn pit. St. Louis was heavily short and wanted over a million bushels. The result was an excited opening, with September ¼@⅝c to 1⅛@1c higher, at 71⅞c to 72½c. After the rush of buying orders was over brokers let go freely, to crown followed and

Eight-Story Brick Store and Office Building to Be Erected.

HIGHLAND AVENUE SALE

Telephone Company Said to Have Purchased Grant Street Property. Railroad Company Buys Fourth Avenue Lot.

The largest real estate transaction in the East End which has been made for some time has just been consummated, and involves not only the transfer of a valuable property, but will be productive of improvements of importance. Grant McCargo and Charles R. Miller have purchased the Huston holdings at the northeast corner of Penn avenue and Whitfield street, having a frontage in Penn avenue of 87 feet and in Whitfield street of 145 feet, extending back to Kirkwood street, where the frontage is the same as that in Penn avenue. The consideration was $120,000. The property is not far from Highland avenue, adjoining, as it does the C. H. Rowe Company building, which is on the corner of the latter thoroughfare.

The object of the purchasers is to erect a large business block, which will cost upward of $150,000. It will be built of brick, be fireproof and thoroughly modern in all its appointments. The height will be eight stories, the ground floor being divided into store rooms, while the upper stories will be offices, single and en suite. Particular attention will be given to the admission of light into the building, its location, with a frontage on three streets, affording excellent opportunities in that line. There is at present a large two-story brick dwelling house on the property. This will be removed and the new structure put in course of erection at the earliest possible moment.

Buchanan Residence Sold.

S. H. Lloyd has sold for J. J. Buchanan, to an East End physician, a two-story brick house of eight rooms, in South Highland avenue, near Alder street, Twentieth ward, for $15,000. The lot on which the house stands measures 60x120 feet. The purchaser, whose name is withheld for the present, bought the property for his own residence.

The same real estate agent sold for J. R. Henry to M. A. Conley, a frame house, lot 24x125 feet, in Lehigh avenue, Twentieth ward, for $5,000; also, for H. Hoff to F. Baltzer, a frame house, lot 25x109 feet, in Spahr street, Twentieth ward, for $6,000.

J. A. Young & Co. sold for Mrs. Socher, to William H. Loch, two lots in Shetland avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $2,500 cash. The lots will be improved this fall with modern houses, of eight rooms, to cost about $3,500 each.

Architect J. Z. Obitz has let the contract to O. L. Schultz for the erection of a 12-room brick residence, to be built in Shetland avenue, near Larimer avenue, for Mrs. A. Schaub, at a cost of $6,500. The lot measures 100x130 feet. Construction is to begin at once.

The deed was placed on record yesterday conveying from J. E. Goehring to Dudley S. Liggett property in the north side of Forbes avenue, about 450 distant from Murray avenue, in the Twenty-second ward, for $21,000. The plot measures 146x137 feet and adjoins the holdings of the heirs of George W. and Nelson P. Reid. It was sold to Mr. Goehring by W. H. Brown in February, 1902.

Railroad Makes Purchase.

The Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company sold for Mrs. Mary Weil to the Pittsburgh & Carnegie Railroad Company the property known as No. 13 Fourth avenue for $8,000. It consists of a lot 18x60 feet with a three-story brick house.

It was rumored yesterday that the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company had purchased the Gilbert Rafferty holdings at the northeast corner of Fourth avenue and Grant street for $100,000. It is said to be desired by the telephone company as a site for a new building for its own use. The absence from the city of the principals reported to be involved in the deal made confirmation of the rumor impossible.

The Avenson Realty Company sold to D. Canter a lot fronting 22 feet in Fifth avenue and extending back to Soho street, improved with a two-story frame house, for $6,500.

Other Realty Transfers.

Alexander McAteer sold to Abraham Pew a lot 24x131 feet in Blackadora avenue, Thirty-seventh ward, for $800.

LESS HARD WORK AND BETTER PAY FOR AMERICANS

British Commission Compares Steel Mills in United States and in England.

LIVING JUST AS CHEAP

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Very interesting conclusions reached by the commission appointed by the British Iron Trade association to visit the United States and study industrial conditions here were made public today by the treasury bureau of statistics. This commission consisted of J. S. Jeans, whose name is already well known to the people of the United States as an authority upon these subjects; Axel Sahlin, an expert in blast furnace work; Ebenezer Parkes, whose special study was sheet and bar mill practice, and Enoch James, who gave special attention to the steel industry.

"The workmen at American mills," says Mr. James, "are generally supposed to be working much harder than they do in this country (England), but this is not my own view. After much conservative talk with many men in various branches who had been employed in similar works in England, and some of them subject to my own control, the conclusion I have arrived at is that the American workmen do not work so hard as the men in England. They have to be attentive in guiding operations and quick in manipulating levers and similar easy work. They are also much more desirous of getting out large quantities than in England. They are better paid and more regular in their attendance at the works, loss of time through drink habits or otherwise not being tolerated."

Mr. Sahlin, in his section of the report, says that the American workmen generally aspire to the higher grades of labor, laving the purely manual labor to workmen from other countries.

"Thus it is," he says, "that around American blast furnaces the American is found in a very decided minority. He may be a foreman, master mechanic, blast engineer, locomotive driver, or stove tender, but he will not work 84 hours per week, shoveling ore or wheeling scrap. For these duties are employed in the south the negroes, and at the northern furnaces immigrants, mostly Irish, Slavs or Italians."

On this question of higher grade work and higher grade wages of American workmen, attention is called to the fact that in certain works Polish and Hungarian laborers were receiving $1 to $1 50 per day, while American rollers working alongside of them were receiving on the average $12 per day of eight hours.

The report quotes Mr. Carnegie as stating recently that the average wages of men in his employment at Homestead were $3 per day, or an average of £187 per annum, against an average of £68 per annum as the earnings of iron and steel workers in Lancashire, and £79 per annum received by the steel rollers in South Wales.

On the question of cost of living Mr. Jeans declares, as the result of his inquiries, that "the average American workman, in most of the essentials of life, can live as cheaply as he can in the old country."

CHARGES WERE DENIED.

Officials Say Attendance and Food at Municipal Hospital Were Not Bad.

Director Leslie of the department of public safety, Superintendent Pitcairn of the bureau of health, and City Physician B. A. Booth yesterday replied to the charges made at the meeting of the Anti-Vaccination society on Thursday night, in regard to the manner in which the municipal hospital is conducted.

The charges were made by the Rev. H. S. Lancaster, largely upon the evidence of Mrs. Thomas Anderson, whose niece died in the institution. Director Leslie called attention to the fact that the congestion at the hospital had been greatly relieved by the erection of temporary additions to the pesthouse, and would be done away with altogether as soon as the new $80,000 smallpox hospital is finished. The contract for the new hospital will be awarded by Director Leslie on Monday.
